Raging Forest Fire Kills 11

'Chutists Trapped In Flames

Wind Whips Roaring Blaze

Eleven persons were known dead and two others presumed to have perished in a raging forest fire which swept over the Gates of the Mountains area of Montana last night, the Associated Press reported.

Twelve of those killed were parachuting firefighters of the U. S. Forest service. Fifteen smokejumpers had leaped into the battle against the flames and were trapped as the wind whipped the fire along the tinder-dry forest.

The lightning-caused blaze has ravaged more than 3,000 acres since it burst out of control Friday and last night it was roaring ahead of reinforcements and communications with terrifying noise and speed.

FLAMES ROAR ON

Supervisor A. D. Moir of Helena National forest said 400 men would stay on the fire lines all night. He said uncontrollable flames were running ahead of firefighters and up Mann Gulch and Willow Creek, along the Missouri river.

Two of the Federal Forest service jumpers died of burns in a Helena hospital. They were Joseph B. Sylvia, 24, Plymouth, Mass., University of Minnesota student, and Bill Hellman, 24, of Kalispel, Mont.

Moir last night identified a third victim, who died at the fire, as Robert J. Bennett, 22, of Paris, Tenn. One smoke jumper was unidentified publicly pending notification of his next of kin.

A fifth victim, James A. Harrison, Missoula, Mont., was a forest service employe at the nearby Canyon Ferry ranger station.

By airplane from Idaho, by truck from Montana cities, volunteers joined professionals working on the blaze. Fifty soldiers came down from the Great Falls air base.

Bulldozers and other heavy equipment were ruled out by the steep terrain in the Missouri river canyon and steep mountain gorges.

Eyewitness Tells Story

By C. J. HANSEN

HELENA, Mont.—(AP)—I watched silent foresters bring the bodies of two smokejumpers and another firefighter out of fire-blackened Mann canyon near here Saturday.

Guided by one of the jumpers who escaped alive when 13 were cut off by a racing forest fire, workers searched the scorched mountainside — hoping to find injured, not dead, men.

The search started early Saturday by flashlight and the glow from a forest fire still racing out of control. It continued after the three bodies were found in the still-smouldering remains of a forest.

The victims were lying face down on the burned mountain side—almost at the spot where the flames shot up into a canyon soon after the 15 parachuting firefighters landed Friday Three are known to be safe.

Two of the living were found Saturday. One stood on a high rock point and directed rescuers to his badly burned companion. Both of them died in a Helena hospital later.

"They were all young kids," said one of the men who had been on duty most of the night. "That's what gets you, just young guys, college students, who were jumping for the sport of it."

Identification of the blackened bodies was a difficult job. Flames had left only boots and belts on the bodies. The body of a prevention guard was identified by a key chain.

LANCASTER—(AP)—A common pleas court jury Saturday found John L. Johnson, former Chamber of Commerce president, innocent of all four counts of receiving stolen meat in the celebrated "hot ham" case.

Mansfield 'Stovers' Win Three

By CHARLEY STINE

WOOSTER—Three Mansfield teams won their way into the finals of the first annual Hot Stove league state tournament here yesterday.

The Eagles came from behind to beat Smithville, 15-6, and Police walloped Alliance, 13-6, and Ohio Sport Center took the measure of Wooster, 15-3.

Thus when the final games are played in the two age divisions here this afternoon, three of the four teams in action will be Mansfield aggregations.

That the championship of the 15-16 age division will come to Mansfield is a certainty. It will be strictly a one-city show as the Eagles and Police, top two teams of the Mansfield National league, battle for the big trophy.

In the 13-14 year old division, it will be Sport Center against Lorain, with Sport Center almost a lead-pipe cinch to bring home the bacon. Lorain won 11-5 yesterday from Burbank.

Finals in both divisions will be played at 2:30 p. m. this afternoon at two diamonds on the Wayne county fairgrounds (1:30 p. m. Mansfield time).

FAMILY AFFAIR

The victories were special ones for the Hartnett family, Police Captain Gene and son, Bobby. Gene manages the Police team, while Bobby had a perfect day batting cleanup for the Eagles. Bobby banged out two singles, a double and triple to match Smithville even-up in run production. He drove in four and scored two.

The story will come to a climax today when the two Hartnetts are on opposite sides for the state finals. Reason for the separation of father and son is that since the

Loses Teeth In Accident

A car was demolished late yesterday afternoon when a car went off the road and overturned, but the two occupants miraculously escaped serious injury. One of them, however, lost "several" teeth.

State highway patrolmen said the car, driven by Arthur Min Yee, 25, of Columbus, went off U. S. Route 42, about 3.4 miles northeast of Mansfield.

The car turned over in the ditch and then struck a telephone pole, breaking it off. Both Yee and his passenger, On Lee, 21, of Columbus were treated at Mansfield General hospital and released.

The Yee car was traveling towards Mansfield. Yee suffered a sprained right foot and abrasions of the abdominal region, patrolmen said.

Lee lost the teeth. He also suffered multiple lacerations of the face, the patrolmen said.

Gives Reason For Long Life

MATTOON, Ill. — (AP) — Alex Sanders, who says "if I just sat still I would die," celebrated his 108th birthday anniversary Saturday.

Sanders says he was born Aug. 6, 1841, in Owen county, Indiana. He lives alone much of the time on a farm north of Mattoon where he has resided for the last 73 years. Now a widower, Sanders married four times. He has three sons.

He tries to keep active. Using a sickle, he cuts weeds in his front yard while sitting in a chair he moves from place to place.

"If I just sat still," he says, "I would die."

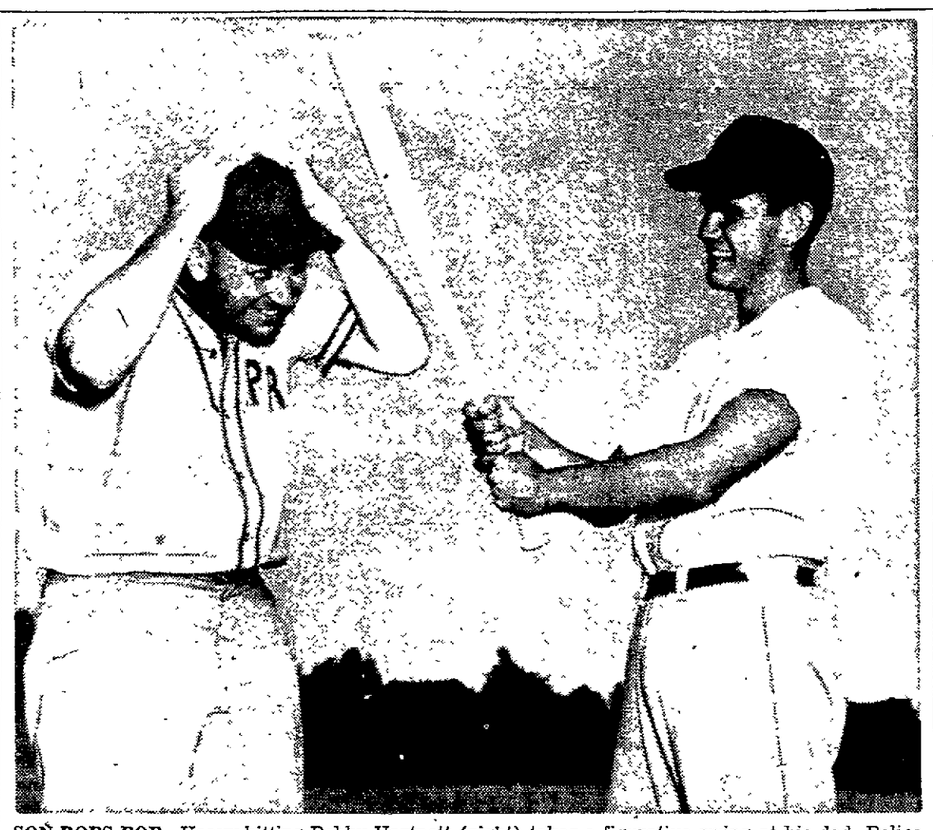
Acts In Strike

HONOLULU — (AP) — Gov. Ingram M. Stainback last night proclaimed a state of emergency in Hawaii's 98-day-old dock strike and called upon the stevedoring industry and the strikers to resume operations.



SON BOPS POP—Heavy-hitting Bobby Hartnett (right) takes a figurative swing at his dad, Police Capt. Eugene Hartnett, as Mansfield teams prepare for the finals of the Ohio Hot Stove league baseball tourney today in Wooster. The picture's all in fun for the two Hartnetts, but they will be serious when today's finals get underway at 1:30 p. m. (Mansfield time) on the Wooster county fairgrounds. Bobby is the catcher and one of the top hitters of the Fraternal Order of Eagles team which meets Police Recreation club, managed by the elder Hartnett, for the 15-16 year old title. It will be the first time that the Hartnetts have opposed each other on the baseball field. Yesterday, Bobby smashed two singles, a double and triple, drove in four runs and scored two as the Eagles defeated Smithville, 14 to 6. The Police won over Alliance, 13 to 6.

N. Y. Paper Faces Suit

Hunt Blasts 5% Allegations

WASHINGTON—(AP)—James V. Hunt, a central figure in Washington's current "five per center" inquiry, announced Saturday he is filing suit against the New York Herald Tribune.

Hunt declared in a statement that "irresponsible half-truths" printed by the newspaper "have gone a long way toward ruining my business."

Now a Washington management counselor, Hunt's activities came under congressional committee scrutiny after the Herald Tribune published a story June 21 saying he had accepted a $1,000 fee from a business man seeking government contracts.

"The Senate investigations subcommittee, naturally aroused by the sensationalism of the original Herald Tribune's story," Hunt said, "has had two attorneys and 16 investigators going over my affairs for more than six weeks.

"They have not even suggested that anything has been found which would warrant any charge against me."

This development came in the midst of an offshoot of the original inquiry—a statement by Senator Mundt (R-SD) that officials of a Detroit auto parts firm had told of receiving quick clearance on a $280,000 army contract after John Maragon got them a White House appointment.

Deadline Is Wednesday

Board Candidates Delay Making Bids

Not a candidate has yet filed for Richland county school board, despite approach of the filing deadline on Wednesday.

There seems little likelihood, however, that the three positions to be filled will go begging. County School Superintendent Boyd Robinson stated last night he understands three persons have petitions ready for filing. They are Emery Culler, Lester G. Lantz and Mrs. Helen Wilson.

The city school board race, meantime, presents a different picture. Four have filed already for the three vacancies to be filled.

One of those, Walton O. Leedy, seeks re-election. The others, F. A. Berkey, R. Nelson Neff and Richard H. Wolford, seek places on the board for the first time.

Village races have developed at Bellville and Plymouth, and in both instances former mayors seek their old jobs back from the present mayors.

At Bellville, Mayor Charles Palm has opposition from Edgar R. Stahl while at Plymouth, Mayor Carroll A. Robinson and J. A. Lasch both have filed.

Up until the election board's closing time yesterday, 66 nominating petitions had been filed. Board Clerk Thomas R. Zeigler reported. Others who filed yesterday were W. N. Groff for Weller township trustee, and Leroy Soliday, for Jefferson constable.

"Filing is about "normal," Zeigler said. However, the big rush comes during the next three days. That's because the deadline for filing for village, township and school board offices is 6:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Illness Hits New Victim

Another child was admitted to Mansfield General hospital yesterday afternoon, suffering from the intestinal disease that has swept over the suburban district north of the city in recent weeks.

The hospital reported that Suzetta Highly, 10-week-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Highly, of Empire road, was the latest patient entering the hospital with the sickness.

The condition of the child was said by hospital attaches to be "poor." That was also said to be the condition of another patient, Carol Critchfield, six weeks old, of 227 Lenox avenue.

The condition of the third child, suffering from the malady, Larry Gerhart, four weeks old, of 188 North Main street, was "fair," according to the hospital.

Another child died of the intestinal disorder early Saturday morning. The child was Mary Elizabeth Twyman, six-month-old daughter of Mr and Mrs. Albert Twyman, of Reformatory road. Her death brought the total number of deaths to five.

Four other children living in the Country Club three allotment previously have died.

He's a Very Sick Monkey

Daredevil Roscoe Faces Loss of Leg

Roscoe, Ashland's escape artist, truck-fighter and most famed (or is it ill-famed?) pet faces a crisis tomorrow.

The capering monkey, purchased by Stanley Phillips as a pet, faces the possible loss of a leg he fractured in his latest fracas, a one-round battle with a truck.

A veterinarian is due to hand down a verdict on the drastic action sometime tomorrow. Meantime, Roscoe sits in his cage at the Phillips home, a greatly subdued and disillusioned monk.

"He's a very sick monkey," police reported.

Roscoe started the fireworks last week-end when he got fresh with a neighborhood dog and had to seek sanctuary in a tree. He had escaped from his cage and set out to see the sights of Ashland. He saw 'em.

He also kept the city's residents in a furor for four days before he tried to turn a filling station into a zoo and was captured.

Not satisfied with the excitement he had caused, Roscoe attacked the problem from all angles, unsnapped the chain from around his neck and was on the loose again Friday. This time the monkey made monkeys out of his pursuers—until he tangled with a truck driven by Paul Gray.

Roscoe spotted the truck several thousand pounds and came out on the short end of the decision, nursing a fractured leg and cut above one eye. A thoroughly bewildered monkey, he seemed happy to be back in his cage.

Today Ashlanders are breathing deep sighs of relief, virtually certain Roscoe won't come scampering around to scare everyone.

But don't bet any money that he won't be loose later today. He's an independent sort of cuss!

Big Crops Hike City's Payrolls

Farm Supply Firms Busy

Bumper corn and wheat crops all over the country have meant bumper business for manufacturers of farm tools and farm equipment.

Carl Oberlin, president of the Martin Steel company here, which manufactures steel farm buildings said the firm is in the process of a large expansion in production.

Martin's labor force has increased over 400 per cent since May this year, he indicated. One of the chief reasons for the expansion, Oberlin said yesterday, is that materials are easier to get than they have been for years.

He said that business has been good for some time, but that it had been impossible to get material in quantities needed to fill orders.

Oberlin said with the large harvest of corn, and the amounts of corn saved from last year, makers of farm buildings have had many additional orders.

Mansfield's other large farm equipment manufacturer, Farm Tools incorporated, has also predicted a good year for the business. Elmer J. Steger, vice-president, said yesterday that by the middle of October the Mansfield plant is expected to be in full production.

"The last 10 days have showed a decided up-turn in business," the official explained. Farm Tools closed down for its annual vacation period June 17. Previously it had furloughed several employes, but when the plant returned from vacation about 75 per cent of the furloughed workers were called back.

Stegel said also that the materials have been easier to get since June. The Mansfield plant manufactures many tillage implements such as harrows and cultivators.

There are about 200 employed at Farm Tools and 450 at Martin Steel.

Claim 3-Day, 1-Pill Cure For Malaria

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Chicago Herald-American reported last night that a "three-day permanent cure" with one pill has been discovered for malaria.

The newspaper, in a copyrighted story, said the discovery resulted from a $7,000,000 federal project involving experiments with 300 convicts at Illinois Stateville prison as malaria "guinea pigs."

The tests have been going 18 months, the Herald-American said.

Credited by the newspaper for the discovery are Dr. Alf Sven Alving, University of Chicago medical expert, aand Dr. John Arnold, an Army scientist. They directed the experiments at Stateville.

Neither of these men could be reached immediately for comment.

Disaster Rips Cities, Leaves Area Ravaged

(By Associated Press)

Late reports from inside and outside Ecuador last night said that probably as many as 2,700 persons were killed in Friday's devastating earthquakes. The injured ran into many thousands.

Direct communication with the stricken area was almost impossible, and latest reports of Friday's tragedy were being unfolded to the world by radio accounts heard outside Ecuador itself.

One of these reports came from the president of Ecuador himself in a broadcast heard in Lima. As yet, however, there was no official Ecuadorean government tabulation direct from the stricken area.

Highlighting the late reports were two small towns which previously had not figured in communications direct from Quito.

These were Pelileo and Patate, both about 22 or 23 miles from Ambato, the third industrial city of Ecuador and one of those hit hard by the quake.

Ecuador stations heard at Medillin, Colombia, said the bodies of 1,300 victims had been counted at Pelileo. At Patate more than 1,000 persons were reported to have lost their lives.

At Latacunga, there were 11 known dead and 30 injured. Two churches, the government house and about 50 dwellings were destroyed.

Various sources reported the destruction of Salcedo. Damage also wes believed heavy at Pujili, Banos, Pansaleo, Mocha, Guano, Cujibies, Squisili, Cevallos, Riobamba, Guaranda, San Andres, Cochimabma, Guamote, and Santa Rosa.

The governor of Chimboranzo province reported many dead and injured in his capital city, Riobamba.

President Plaza and Interior Minister Salazar Gomez were in Ambato directing rescue work. All other cabinet members were in Quito on 24-hour duty coordinating relief operations.

Ambato, a textile city of 50,000 population, was hard hit. Communications were knocked flat and information from the stricken area was scant. The area affected covers 300 square miles. The population of the region is about 300,000.

It was the biggest disaster suffered by Ecuador since colonial times. Ambato was destroyed in 1797 by an earthquake which also ruined the towns of Pelifeo, Quero, Pillaro and Patate. The dead totaled 5,908.

Interior Minister Salazar Gomez asked in a broadcast from Ambato for army demolition squads to raze buildings damaged to the verge of toppling over on survivors.

Early news of the disaster trickled in over only one channel—a small battery-powered radio station of the Shell Oil company which normally handles only company business.

PLANES TURN BACK

Army relief planes sent to Ambato from Quito had to turn back because the airport was fogbound. Two more set out from Quayaquil with hopes of landing later with blood plasma and vaccines sent by the Red Cross there.

President Plaza, a large-scale farmer, ordered all milk produced on his land sent to Ambato.

Locomotives were testing the southern section of the Quayaquil-Quito railway and relief trains were ready to pull out as soon as the line is found to be secure.

Miguel Albornoz, secretary-general of the Ambato public administration, said in a broadcast the survivors spent Friday night in the open or under tents—out of reach of tottering buildings.

Authorities ordered all inhabitants out of their homes to avoid injury from falling walls or debris.

A broadcaster here reported victims arriving from Santa Rosa, another of the stricken places, said their town was almost wiped out.

City Seeks Expert's Aid In Rate Fight

Council Will Take Action Wednesday

A special meeting of city council has been called for Wednesday to authorize hiring a rate expert to study the Mansfield Telephone company's application for a rates increase.

An ordinance to authorize such a move will be drafted Monday by City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch and council's utilities committee. The special council meeting was called by Nelson Swihart, chairman of council's utilities committee.

Hiring an expert to study the telephone company's application now before the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, has been discussed since shortly after the application was filed on June 6.

City officials last Tuesday met with members of the PUCO and were promised fullest cooperation. All records of the telephone company will be open to a city hired man, PUCO officials declared.

They said a city hired rates man could work with the PUCO investigators on the application.

The application is now under study by PUCO engineering and accounting departments.

Council's first action on the rate question came at the July meeting when it went on record as opposing any increase in telephone rates and authorized City Solicitor Kalbfleisch to investigate the proper procedure for filing protests.

The city solicitor has recommended a rate expert be hired.

Meanwhile, Councilman Nelson Swihart issued a call to all organizations or persons to send their protests to the application for an increase to council's utilities committee.

Coordination of all protests to the application was recommended also by City Solicitor C. J. Kalbfleisch.

"We can get all of these protests together and hit the application from all angles," Kalbfleisch said.

A public hearing on the application will be held, probably the first of November, PUCO officials stated.

'Big Devil' Comes Home

NEW YORK — (AP) — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and his son came back to the United States Saturday after a mountain-climbing jaunt that set off an official uproar inside Russia.

The Russian radio protested that Douglas was accompanied by "a gang of spies" as he and his 17-year-old son, William jr., hiked through the mountains of Iran on Russia's southern borders.

"They dubbed me as 'the big devil from the United States,'" Douglas said, "and my son as 'the little devil.'"

Awarded Contract To Curb Jet Noise

HARTFORD, Conn. — (AP) — A Hartford sound-curbing concern Saturday got the assignment to reduce the roar of jet-testing at Wright field in Dayton to the level of "street noises."

The job will be undertaken by Industrial Sound Control, an affiliate of the Homestead Insulation company, which has been awarded a $250,000 contract to do it.

Heat's on, Fish Move Up Coast

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(AP)—Tropical fish were reported running off the New Jersey coast yesterday.

Flying fish, which normally never get farther north than Florida, were reported seen off the coast here.

John Layer, commodore of the Atlantic City Tuna club, said the Jersey shore waters were "teeming with tropical fish." Other sportsmen said the gulf stream currents probably had edged in closer to the New Jersey coast.

Three Added To Cast of 'Antigone'

Play Scheduled In September

Three more young Mansfielders have been added to the cast of "Antigone', Greek drama which will be presented by the Workshop Players under the sponsorship of the Community Players early in September.

New members of the cast, selected by the director, Nick Psacharopoulos, are Jack Schettler, veteran actor of the Community Players, who will take the roll of Heamon; Jill Woods who will play Ismene and Bob Fulton who will be the messenger.

Of the three, Schettler is probably best known. He made his debut with the Players in "Ten Little Indians", returned the same season to play a leading role in "The Return of Peter Grimm", and last season tried his first character role in "Suspect."

Members of the production crew chosen to date are E. D. Gibson, business manager; Don Fatkin, stage manager and Mrs. Phyllis Schettler, tickets. Psacharopoulos said other appointments may be made this week and repeated his appeal to Mansfielders who wish to help in the production. All interested persons may call George Porterfield at 2441-6.

To date, the first three weeks of rehearsal has been confined to blocking out and rehearsing the show as a whole. Psacharopoulos said the next three weeks will be given to polishing each of the 10 scenes of the play and to individual attention to the actors.

The play is tentatively scheduled for Sept. 6 and 7. Suitable place for arena staging is still being sought.

Pet Rescues Trapped Dog

ALTON, Ill. — (AP) — Mrs. Pauline Hoffman, her son Gerhardt and her dog Ponto were driving through Rock Spring Park.

Suddenly Ponto began a series of maneuvers that meant he wanted to get out. The car was stopped. Ponto bounded away, his ears tuned to faint cries in the distance. Soon he ran back and, by sound and mation, indicated he wanted company on a return trip. The Hoffmans trailed him.

They found a small cocker spaniel trapped in a hole. The best guess was that he had squirmed in after a rabbit and the earth caved in on him. Only his nose and one paw were in sight. He was dug out quickly while Ponto watched, head high and tail wagging.

Film Sadness Comes From Makeup Kit

BY HOWARD C. HEYN

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — This is probably the only place in the world where an actor doesn't even have to know how to look sad.

Makeup artists obligingly supply, on request, unhappy facial expressions for players who just can't wipe off that joyous smile.

These bright and beaming souls no doubt are contemplating their fabulous salaries, and thus are to be forgiven for looking deliriously happy all the time. In any event, they seem to pose a studio problem.

Universal - International has an official cheer-chaser named Nick Marcellino, and he's busy all the time. Other makeup men may be called upon to point up the glamor of a fading star, or paint out the bags under the hero's eyes. Marcellino never does any of these things. He concerns himself solely with sadness.

Quite naturally, his colleagues call him "Happy" Marcellino.

Nick can achieve a melancholy visage in about three minutes, with grease paint and lip rouge. He must be available at all hours. On a moment's notice he will scurry to one set or another, carrying his grease pencils and lip brush in a tidy little case.

He says his most difficult subject is Ann Blyth.

"Ann has the happiest disposition in Hollywood," he declared, frowning morosely. "She radiates wholesomeness and good humor. I can eliminate the smile of the average actress in three minutes, but with Ann it may take 15 minutes."

Even then, Nick admits, Miss Blyth does not look overly worried.

On the set of "Free for All" Ann reports every morning at 7 to have her smile reduced and her exuberant demeanor depressed. Marcellino carefully applies the necessary shadows and lines. But his artistry is soon dissolved by the sunny warmth of Ann's temperament, Nick complained.

"By noon the entire effect is gone. She wears it off. The smile comes through again."

He sighed, shrugging his shoulders resignedly. "I tell her she is endangering my professional reputation. But she just sits there laughing at me. Even Marcellino can do nothing with such a girl!"

Trained Chickens Win Role In Movies

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Chickens that squawk or shut up at a snap of their owner's fingers are a boon to Hollywood sound stages.

The stop-and-go fowl were used in a barnyard sequence of the comedy "Free for All." While Ann Blyth and Robert Cummings spoke their lines, the birds kept mum. When the dialogue ended, the hens began cackling and kept it up until talk resumed.

Aram Koptoian, a Fresno, Calif., farmer, trained the birds to start and stop clucking when he snapped his fingers. Sound men and actors loved the disciplined fowl. For a squawk during dialogue drowns out voices on the sound track and the scene must be reshot.

Heat Makes Actors Call For Assistance

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Columbia studios had to call for standins for the standins during desert location shooting for "The Palomino."

Doubles for Jerome Courtland and Beverly Tyler hollered for relief after a morning of 115-degree heat, plus radiation from spotlights. The company had to telephone the studio for replacements.

Lanky Dancer Takes Trombone Lessons

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Dancer Dan Daily, who yearns to lead a band some day, is learning to play the trombone.

The lanky actor — to the dismay of other stars — spends a couple of hours a day in his Fox studio dressing room totting the horn with flourishes. He says his wife gave it to him for Christmas, and he's determined to keep practicing until he masters it.

Indians Entertained By Movie Makers

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Twentieth Century - Fox plans to screen movies nightly to entertain 1700 Apache indians from a reservation near the Sedona Basin, Ariz., location site of "The Arrow."

The studio polled the Indians to learn their favorites, and the Apaches voted: 1) Betty Grable, 2) cartoon comedies, 3) travel shorts, 4) early-day Shirley Temple movies, 5) westerns in which Indians aren't portrayed as heavies.

Wiener Roasted In Actor's Hand

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Ever roast a wiener while holding it in your hand? Actor Broderick Crawford did. He wasn't burned, either.

Crawford had to fight an oil fire in a "Cargo to Capetown" scene. He'd been eating a hot-dog. But when he tossed it away the wiener stuck unnoticed in his heavy glove.

"What smells?" were his first words after finishing the scene. Then he noticed the charred morsel of meat. P. S. --Crawford was wearing an asbestos suit and gloves.

Mule Photogenic After Some Changes

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Here's what makeup man Frank Westmore says he had to do to make Francis, a mule, photogenic:

1) Install false teeth to fill some unsightly gaps in the mule's lower jaw.

2) Squirt eyewash in its eyes for added luster.

3) Design hair-covered leather extensions for its ears.

4) Add extra hair to its tail to improve the swish.

5) Put inch-and-a-half liefts on its shoes so Francis could see eye to eye with Actor Donald O'Connor in closeups.

Francis, starred in "Francis," a movie, received a good deal of attention from other studio personnel. Serving the beast were a trainer, a "voice" coach, a hairdresser and a sanitary engineer, equipped with broom and pan.

Seeks Ban On Religion In Schools

AUGUSTA, Me., — (AP) — A former Montana municipal judge said Saturday he will take legal steps seeking to bar religious devotions in Maine's Boothbay Harbor district public schools.

Frank C. Hughes of Southport, Me., contending such devotions are unconstitutional, said he will ask State Supreme Court Justice Robert F. Williamson to issue an order halting Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's prayer.

The former Glendive, Mont., judge last April asked Boothbay Harbor school officials to stop the practice. School superintendent Harold B. Clifford refused. He said it would be "contrary to the law of Maine."

Hughes based his contention of unconstitutionality on the decision of the U. S. Supreme court in a Champaign, Ill., case.

Vets of 'Century' To Gather In East

The annual reunion and convention of the Century Association of the 100th Infantry Division veterans will be held Sept. 9-11 at the Hotel Commodore, New York City.

All veterans of the 100th Infantry Division and attached units living in the Mansfield area are invited to make their reservations.

Plans made in 1948 at Baltimore to aid cities and towns in France and Germany which the 100th either liberated or captured will be put into effect when the "Century" veterans collect funds to aid the people of Bitche, France, rebuild their hospital and clinic. Bitche was nearly destroyed by 100th artillery fire.

Band Ready For Concert

Another in the 17th consecutive series of concerts by Eugene Smart's studio pupils, will be given tonight at North Lake park with Roy Wells, trombonist from Columbus, as the featured soloist.

These concerts, sponsored by the North Lake Park association, of which Frank Gillinham is president, have drawn thousands of Mansfielders to the park each Sunday night at 8 p. m.

Tonight Smart's 50 piece orchestra will present a program of popular concert arrangements with featured soloists besides Wells from the studio members. They will include: Robert Hiskey, trumpeter, Roger Thaler, clarinet player, Richard Maidens and Books Lake, who play the saxophone.

Vocalists for tonight's concert will be Jean Maurer, Elaine Wilkins, and Mary Louise and Barbara Jones.

Smart has chosen special arrangements from Haydn, Sousa, Jerome Kern and Irving Berlin. Among the numbers will be "Washington Post March" by Sousa, "Look for the Silver Lining" from Kern's musical comedy "Sally, "The Heavens are Telling" from Haydn's "Creation" and the "Sabre Dance" by Khachaturian. Selections from Berlin's "Easter Parade," will round out the program.

This concert will be given by the student orchestra under the direction of Smart.

Ohio Woman Finds John Bull Looking Threadbare, Hungry

LONDON — (AP) — Rep Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio) said Saturday John Bull looks threadbare, hungry and run-down.

"They don't get enough meat" said the Ohio congresswoman.

"During the war they worked on physical reserves they had built up during pre-war years of meat-eating. Now they are having to do as much work as ever on starches alone."

On a quick personal fact-finding trip to Britain, France and Italy, Mrs. Bolton said she wanted to "get the feel of things" and take her impressions back to the House foreign committee on which she serves.

She said she had talked to several British officials and "people of good authority" on the country's economic problems. She would not say who they were.

She planned to fly to Paris later Saturday for few days visit before proceeding to Italy.

DESERT ONCE WET

LA JOLLA, Calif. — (AP) — California's Mojave desert is one of the sandiest, dryest in the United States. But Dr. Robert R. Miller of the United States National Museum and Dr. Carl L. Hubbs University of California biologist say it was once a land of lakes. The area was well watered until after the glacial era — about 20,000 years ago, they estimate.

'Y' Names More Drive Chairmen

Gets Organized For Campaign

Robert Horn, Mansfield insurance agency manager, has been appointed chairman of the general division of the YMCA's membership drive, it was announced yesterday.

Horn was one of four chairmen for the drive announced by Vernon Smeltzer, chairman of the membership committee. W. A. Brandenburg will assist Horn as co-chairman of the General division.

Fred Hout was named chairman of the drive's speakers bureau and Robert Meese, chairman of the publicity committee.

Smeltzer previously had named Clarence L. VanDerau, chairman of the Industrial division, and Harry Dailey as the co-chairman of the industrial division.

The general division covers retail business, service business, churches, schools and professions. The Industrial division is divided into large and small manufacturing plants.

OPENS SEPT. 7

The kick-off breakfast on Sept. 7 will start the 10-day enrollment drive, which will end Sept. 16 with a victory dinner. Both the breakfast and dinner will be held in the YMCA gymnasium.

Lumbermens Mutual Insurance Agency, Inc., and the Isaly Dairy company have united to sponsor the complimentary kick-off breakfast and victory dinner.

A goal of 1257 memberships has been set by the membership committee. This is the exact number of memberships obtained in last year's drive, of which 500 were renewals. Only about 60 per cent of the 1,300 present members are expected to renew their memberships this year, according to Smeltzer.

"This means that the 100 boys and 200 men who will be soliciting memberships during the drive will have to 'sell' about 500 new memberships this year. We would have set our goal higher, except for the fact that facilities at the 'Y' are inadequate for more than the 1300 members we now have," Smeltzer added.

"The Mansfield YMCA has increased its activity participation by 45 per cent over last year and boy's work has tripled. We now have 10 Indian Guide clubs in the grade schools, where we had only two last year," Maurice W. Taylor, general secretary of the YMCA, said.

U. N. Success Depends On World's People, Says Attlee

ARUNDEL, Eng. — (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee said Saturday the ultimate success or failure of the United Nations rests with the people of the world.

Attlee spoke at a United Nations association rally on the grounds of ancient Arundel castle, seat of the dukes of Norfolk. He appeared completely recovered from a chill which kept him in bed last week end.

Attlee said the U. N. has not achieved all its original objectives and has become "an arena in which differences and animosities seem to be given greater emphasis."

He also said "the great tragedy of the iron curtain" is that "it cuts off a great part of the human race from community with the rest.

"Here is the tragedy of preaching an ideology which rejects the moral values accepted hitherto by all civilized peoples, however imperfectly they have been put into action."

Czechs Hurl New Charges

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — (AP) — In a renewed propaganda blast aimed at discrediting the Vatican, the controlled Czech press last night accused Pope Pius XII of profiteering from Australian slave labor.

The chief assault on the Vatican was made by Svobodne Slovo, a socialist paper. It declared the Holy See has vast investments in all manner of enterprises, including armament plants.

This newspaper said the Roman Catholic pontiff had interests in a "missionary company, Jesus Christ, Limited, in Australia, which buys and sells Australian natives for slave labor."

The alleged enterprise was not further defined.

Stand Collapses

RHINEBECK, N. Y. — (AP) — Rhinebeck police reported last night that a grandstand in Dutchess county fairgrounds collapsed and injured about 20 persons.

Ford Loses Strike Suit

DETROIT — (AP) — The Ford Motor company failed Saturday to obtain a court order to halt the holding of a strike vote among its employes at polling places close to headquarters of the CIO United Auto Workers.

In Lansing, Supreme Court Justice Leland W. Carr denied the company's plea for an order to force the state labor mediation board to change the election setup.

The decision meant that the strike vote among Ford's 80,000 employes in Michigan will start Monday as scheduled.

The company immediately put full page advertisements in all three Detroit Sunday morning newspapers appealing to the members of Walter P. Reuther's big union.

The ads appeared over the signature of Henry Ford, II, and urged the workers to weigh their strike decision carefully.

"It is the apparent hope of union leadership," Ford asserted, "that you will vote yourself into another long strike. In fact, they seem to want only those of you who favor a strike actually to cast ballots in the coming election.

"That is why we are doing everything we can to have polling places located where the greatest possible number of you may vote."

2 Named In Rent Suits

Actions for overcharge of rent have been filed against two Mansfield landlords in the U. S. District Court in Cleveland, according to George H. Blecker, area rent director.

The federal government has filed a suit against Joseph Letizia, 243 South Main street, for overcharge of rent in the amount of $1,260 for his property at 245 South Main street. The action carries a provision for treble damages.

Treble damages also are asked in a federal suit against Myrtle Snyder, 26 Hoffer avenue, for overcharge of rent totalling $529 for housing accommodations at the Hoffer avenue address.

Pilots From 5 Cities to Present Air Show at Ashland Today

Mansfield's CAP Will Participate

Well-Known Fliers Join In Spectacle

The skies above Ashland will be filled with all types of aircraft this afternoon as Civil Air Patrol and service pilots participate in the annual air show at the city's airport.

Eight Mansfield CAP pilots will combine with personnel from squadrons in Bucyrus, Galion, Mt. Vernon and Ashland to present the show.

Capt. William O. Ash, commanding officer of the 164th Air National Guard Fighter squadron, based in Mansfield, will lead a formation of F-51 Mustangs in maneuvers over the field.

Lt. Cmdr. Cook Cleland, air group commander at the U. S. Navy air station, Akron, and winner of the 1947 Thompson Trophy race at the national air races, will lead two squadrons of Navy fighters over the port.

Pilots, under Lt. Clifford Weaver, commanding officer of the 67th Troop Carrier command, Cleveland, will join in the annual salute to the people of north central Ohio.

The show is sponsored jointly by the Ashland squadron and the Ashland Flying service.

The naval air station at Akron is sending its radio contact truck to the Ashland airport, so that spectators on the field will be able to hear the pilots of the planes as they give positions, orders for maneuvers and explanations of what is being demonstrated.

Visitors will hear two-way communications, plane-to-plane and plane-to-ground, by means of a specially designed sound system coupled with VHF radio.

Lt. Ernest Webb of the state highway patrol, will give a demonstration of the patrol's use of aircraft in law enforcement and traffic control.

Four trophies will be awarded to winners in flight contests to be staged throughout the afternoon.

'Stovers' Win Three

Hartnetts do not live in the same ward as the Police team, Bobby is not eligible to play for his father.

The two have never met on the field before. A league game scheduled between the Eagles and police early this season resulted in a forfeit by the Eagles when they could field only eight players. The two teams have been aching to get at each other ever since.

The police are favorites because the Eagles used up all of their pitching in winning the first two games. Lefty Jack Howell, who went all the way Friday, had to come on in relief in the third frame yesterday.

The Eagles were trailing, 4-0, at the time as Freddy Zahn gave up five hits and a walk in the third frame. The Mansfielders came back strong to tie the game in the bottom of the third with Hartnett cleaning the bases with a three-run triple and then scoring himself on an error.

Smithville blew sky high in the fourth inning and the Eagles wrapped up the game with five runs, made with the aid of only three hits. After scoring five times in the sixth, Manager Marty Bricker relieved Howell in order to save him for today's game.

Police and Sport Center both had an easy time.

Police and Alliance each scored once in the first but the game blew wide open when the Mansfielders poured eight runs across the plate in the third. They led, 13-1, before a dying rally by Alliance produced five tallies in the bottom of the seventh.

Sport Center also had trouble getting the last inning finished although it coasted the rest of the way. Delano Wright had a shutout and a 15-0 victory going into the final frame when he tired and gave up three runs.

Admit Rebates

CHICAGO — (INS) — Two Chicago optical firms have admitted in federal court that they gave some 500 midwest eye doctors rebates on spectacles they prescribed for patients during 1947 and '48.

CHILD TO SEE—Born blind, 3-year-old Marie Helen de Valle will be granted the gift of normal sight through generosity of Los Angeles newspaper readers and an anonymous woman who has volunteered payment to her own eye specialist for treatment. Previous treatment resulted in partial sight. (International).

City Officials Take Dues Issue to Supreme Court

An Ohio law prohibiting cities to pay dues into the Ohio League of Municipalities will be carried to the state supreme court, Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said yesterday.

Announcement of the court test came following a meeting in Fremont Friday attended by about 100 Ohio mayors.

A five-man committee, headed by Earl Haggerman, finance director of Dayton, will prepare the league's case for the supreme court, Vaughn said.

A bill to permit cities to pay dues into the league was introduced in the last session of the Ohio General Assembly, but failed to win approval. The prohibition, therefore, stands.

The Ohio league has on several occasions attempted to get permission from the Ohio legislature to for ma dues-paying organization such as exists in 32 other states, Mayor Vaughn said.

The Ohio league needs dues to continue in operation, and expects to get them from the various municipalities which belong to the organization, Mayor Michael Disalle, of Toledo, league president, said.

Following the league session, mayors were taken on a bus tour of Fremont industries. Later they joined in Fremont's centennial festivities.

Pledge of Allegiance to Flag

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

There Must Be a Stopping Place

NOW IT IS up to the "fourth round" of wage increases being demanded—or at least asked—and even this gives no indication of being a stopping place.

A sober thought is that this can't keep going on forever, if there's to be any stemming of the inflationary tide, and that signs of a recession should be taken into account by those who have been urging successive wage boosts to balance cost-of-living increases.

There has already been a noticeable drop in prices of some commodities and if this is to be encouraged it stands to reason that causes of the excessive prices must be removed by equalizing supply and demand and by increasing individual production if present wage levels are to be held.

Price decreases enlarge the purchasing power of the dollar and thus help employes as much as would further wage increases in the matter of maintaining comfortable living standards.

It is regrettable that a big steel company should put itself in the awkward position of announcing the largest earnings of any six months in history on the same day it said that wage increases sought by the Steel Workers' union are "out of the question."

It is the extremely large profits of a few big concerns which supply argument that higher wages could be paid without increasing prices, without consideration of the fact that many industries would be unable to continue operations if required to follow the wage "pattern" thus developed.

Much would be gained if the mutual interests of management and employes were recognized by each, during the progress of negotiations, but this has proved difficult in many instances in the past and seems likely to continue so.

Greater Concern For Mentally Ill

IT IS SAFE to say that all the states are concerned about the care of their mentally sick. Some are proceeding with improvement and some are just beginning to face the steadily increasing problem. New York state is one of those which are advancing in this difficult matter. Rich and highly populated, it has power lacking to some of the states, but its density of population makes its problem especially serious. Thirty years ago it was already in the lead, and it still keeps that relative position.

Its moves, therefore, are worth watching. One of the developments recently announced by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is that of a relationship between voluntary hospitals and state mental hospitals by which patients will have preliminary treatment before they become state charges. Said Mr. Dewey:

"There has been no half-way point for a person who is committed by a judge and sent off to an institution as insane. There should be a half-way mark, and a quarter-way mark."

By this he means that there should be more distinction in handling and treatment than there has been hitherto between curable cases of mental illness and the incurable types.

Choosing Book For August Reading

THE SO-CALLED summer fiction is all right in its way—light, pleasant unimportant, in tune with the lowered sense of responsibility which we call vacation. But after three or four such books they all begin to seem alike. The sugared romance palls. Then what about a book with meat in it for August?

What about an old book, for a change? Try one of those hard-to-get-into but later enthralling books of Walter Scott, or Dickens? If you have a feeling for music, for the rich color of old tapestries, why not have a dip into Spenser's "Faerie Queene"? The recurrent rhythm of that last long line is like that of little waves on a sheltered beach. Shakespeare has music, too, and a keen knowledge of the motives that move men.

If you love the out-doors but have to stay at home to mind the business or manage the baby, what about Stewart Edward White's "The Forest" or "The Cabin" or the Puget Sound one "Secret Harbor," or Kathreen Pinkerton's "Three's a Crew"? What about John Burroughs, for a change, or Richard Jeffries?

Then there are those quiet books of meditation on people and events "From a College Window" and "Beside the Still Waters" by Arthur Christopher Benson.

And what about your country? Take J. T. Adams, "The Epic of America", for example, or "The American Scriptures" by Van Doren and Carmer: some of the writings of Thomas Jefferson and the others who helped to make us what we are.

August is a good time for a good book. Why not try one?

One Campaign That Always Loses In the End.

A Voice From the Country

Labor Government Failing In Britain

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

SOMETIMES it is stimulating to project one's imagination into the distant future and speculate how history will consider the times in which we are living. I suspect that it will characterize our epoch as one of confusion and disintegration which came about through the incapacity of the people and their leaders to see beyond the tops of their own noses. That their whole tendency was to live from day to day and week to week by shifts, short-cuts and improvisation, almost wholly without vision or a willingness to accept reality and truth and deal with problems in the terms of truth and reality.

BROMFIELD

The supreme example at the moment is, of course, the performance of the Labor government in Great Britain. Asserting that it has a long-range plan which will destroy all wealth and make all citizens equal in advantages (as well as in heavy taxes), the Labor government has gone on improvising and patching from day to day, ignoring the facts in the case, the laws of economics and indeed almost every reality.

* * *

Ignore Reality.

THIS is because a handful of men believed in a theory—that government can regulate and control all the factors in a crisis. This little group of men then won the political support of a majority of the population by promising it almost everything, while again ignoring all reality and truth.

The result is that the people of the British Isles are reduced to a tragic situation of harsh and low living standards, sacrifice of freedom and dignity and a gradual descent into the noisome depths of nazi and fascist national socialism.

The little men with the theory, the short cuts, the panaceas, the cradle-to-grave lollipops now have nowhere to go and only turn farther and farther from any real solution of their difficulties.

From historical perspective, the realities of Great Britain's tragic position are clear enough. Great Britain no longer controls the banking of the world. She no longer controls great sources of cheap raw materials and labor.

She no longer controls economically or politically her own dominions and commonwealths. Her home islands are enormously over populated. She cannot begin to feed herself, even with a vastly improved agriculture.

The Labor government has and is confiscating the capital which might be bringing efficiency to her own handicapped industries or be working abroad for her nation as it did in the past.

All of these elements and countless others, almost equally disastrous, are realities, but the Labor government has faced none of them. It has simply gone on improvising and attempting one dodge after another while feeding the deprived, tired population with heavy doses of Socialist soothing syrup.

Instead of recognizing the fact that the only sound solution of Britain's troubles is the closest possible economic alliance with this country, the export of ten million and upward of her excess population to this country and her own dominions, and the organization and concentration in the home islands of those industries which suit especially her particular economic situation, the Labor Government has minced about, refusing to face a single truth.

* * *

Seeks To Cartelize Industry.

THE Labor government fights at every turn every effort to reduce trade barriers and set up a unified world economy which can alone restore both stability and permanent peace.

The Labor government seeks to cartelize industry to a degree fully as vicious as that of the prewar nazi cartels. It seeks, pitifully, to maintain a pound sterling trading area which can never be maintained in a world hungry for trade and for cheap, good quality commodities. It insists on maintaining in its declining markets a pitifully fictitious value for British currency.

And all the while, the same Labor government devours the internal economy of the nation by confiscating capital, killing the immense tax resources of industry through nationalization and constantly increasing the cost of government through a bad and destructive Socialist bureaucracy.

It is indeed a tragic idiotic program, perhaps the more so because the taxpayers of this country are paying to keep it going and prolong the misery.

Lenin, who was nobody's fool once said, "Germany will arm herself out of existence. The British empire will expand itself out of existence and the U. S. will loan itself out of existence." The first two predictions have already come true.

We have not the resources to save the whole of the world. Much less have we the resources to save a world which is willing to deal only short-cut and self-deception and the half-baked methods of the welfare state.

'White Paper' Viewed As Another Bomb

By JOHN MARTIN

THAT two-billion-dollar laboratory monster, the atomic bomb, was dropped on Hiroshima Aug. 6, 1945.

In the sunburst that followed 30,000 persons were killed instantly; tens of thousands died later. Japan soon surrendered.

Russia, waiting in the wings, dashed onto the Manchurian stage, looted the scenery and then gave the props to the Chinese communists.

Four years later the U. S. white paper is dropped on Nationalist China. It likewise produces a chain reaction ending in tragedy—this time to the immediate disadvantage of the United States and western allies.

The timing of the white paper virtually on "Atomic Bomb Anniversary" is of course accidental.

Washington wanted to tell the story of Russian aid to the Chinese communists and of what it terms a corrupt and inefficient Nationalist regime so American public opinion can be prepared for what is to follow.

Nationalist officials in Formosa themselves bitterly predict widespread defections as a result of the white paper bomb. One said "The United States could not have hurt China more."

The white paper warns the communists and the Kremlin to keep "hands off" the rich tin, rubber, rice, and oil regions in southeastern Asia.

The warning that the United States will appeal to the United Nations if Chinese communists attack Indochina and other southern areas is only effective if one remembers the atomic bomb.

President Truman, who had the immense responsibility of deciding the original "bombs away" at Hiroshima and Nagasaki, said last April the United States would not hesitate to use the atomic bomb in any future war. His words were:

"Now I believe that we are in a position where we will never have to make that decision again, but if it has to be made for the welfare of the United States, and the democracies of the world are at stake, I would not hesitate to make it (the decision) again."

The United States again has made it clear just recently that it has the charge of "delivering the atomic bomb" in defense of the North Atlantic community should Russia attack.

Thomas Recovers, But Staves Off Trial

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It has now been exactly one year since this column first exposed both the kickback skulduggery of Congressman Parnell Thomas of New Jersey and the fact that he had had soldiers transferred away from the war front in return for political contributions. Since then, Thomas has been indicted, but pleaded sickness and has never faced trial. The other day, however, he was seen driving up to the Statler hotel in a sleek green Cadillac convertible looking in better health than ever.

PEARSON

Despite his good health and prosperity, Republican leaders in the House of Representatives have quietly gone to Democratic leaders to ask that the indictment against Thomas be dropped. Congressmen stick together, and Democratic leaders are planning to pass this plea on to the justice department.

What will be done about it—if anything—will be one of the first problems faced by the new attorney general, J. Howard McGrath.

* * *

Will Vaughan Be Ousted?

AROUND the White House it's now said that President Truman is looking for a painless way to kick Gen. Harry Vaughan upstairs providing "that S. O. B. Drew Pearson" and the Senate investigating committee don't make things too hot.

This stubborn loyalty quirk in Harry Truman's makeup has been admired by some people but doesn't benefit the taxpayers or those interested in good government.

Furthermore, the new White House thinking about General Vaughan arises just as another question - mark in the extraordinary life of the general is being raised—namely, what connection he had with the attempted purchase of all the remaining army scrap iron in Germany.

This was another deal involving lobbyist James V. Hunt whose diary reads as if he were almost a member of the White House staff, and who, with Vaughan, once had the Army band play one of Hunt's musical compositions at a White House garden party.

The scrap-iron deal took place in March, 1947, when Benny Bender of Shreveport, La., went to Germany and signed a contract with the Army for 150,000 tons of scrap iron on behalf of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company. Returning to the U. S. A., Bender found himself in some trouble with Carnegie-Illinois, which apparently had not given him full authority to act and which refused to honor a draft against them for $206,000.

Bender was then faced with the problem of getting the Army contract for the scrap iron transferred to his name rather than that of Carnegie-Illinois, a rather difficult deal, since Bender had no sizable funds of his own.

* * *

Red Tape Vanishes.

IT WAS at this point that Bender went to Vaughan's friend, lobbyist Hunt, the reputed miracle man who was supposed to be able to accomplish anything with the Army. Hunt signed a contract with Bender April 15, '47 by which he agreed to get the Army to transfer the scrap iron from Carnegie-Illinois to Bender. Hunt's fee for this transfer was to be $12,500.

If the transfer was for the best interests of the Army, of course, no fee or undue influence should have been necessary.

During their conversations, Hunt introduced Bender to General Vaughan outside Hunt's office in the Barr building as the "man I told you about who is interested in that scrap-iron deal."

Vaughan had left the White House to call at Hunt's office. This was the only time Bender actually met Vaughan, though lobbyist Hunt harped on the idea that Vaughan was helping him arrange the transfer.

Whatever influence was used, the transfer went through with amazing speed—one day and a half. For those accustomed to government red tape, this was phenomenal. Four army teletype messages were exchanged with Germany, whereupon the transfer of title from the giant Carnegie-Illinois Corporation to little Benny Bender of Shreveport, La., for all the remaining scrap iron in Germany was accomplished.

In the end, the scrap-iron ring in the United States made it difficult for Bender to sell his scrap and the deal fell through.

Bender and Hunt quarreled over payment, and Hunt finally sued Bender for his $12,500 fee. Bender, in turn, took bankruptcy and the fee was settled for $10,000.

But the secret strings by which Vaughan's friend so blithely and quickly transferred the scrap iron from Carnegie-Illinois to Benny Bender still has those who know the Army gasping.

* * *

Merry-Go-Round.

LITTLE noticed in the rush of the 81st Congress is constructive Senator Fulbright's bill to use the balance of the Finnish debt to educate Finnish students in the U. S. A. Finland was the one country after World War I which kept on paying her debt, and now the senator from Arkansas proposes that this fidelity be rewarded by closer scholastic ties with us. . .Tireless Congressman George Miller of Oakland, Calif., is trying to persuade the Maritime Commission to encourage more ship building in West Coast shipyards—now idle. He points out that despite higher wages, Henry Kaiser demonstrated that costs can be made cheaper through greater efficiency.

It Says Here:

—By KEN WOODMAN

IT LOOKS as if we might have a fairly interesting election this fall. On the non-partisan side, discussions of the council-manager plan and selection of three school board members would be enough to pep up any campaign.

* * *

But there is apt to be some partisan activity, too, particularly over who is going to be the next mayor of Mansfield. There are some red-hot issues lying around just waiting for somebody to pick them up. And toss 'em!

* * *

Or, maybe it isn't quite right to say the issues are lying around. Actually they're flying around. You can hardly open a conversation without encountering an issue. Right now this city has more issues than the air force had flying saucers a while back.

Assignment: America

Interviewing Dr. Kung

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK—Dr. H. H. Kung combines some rather various distinctions in his rotund person. This former finance minister of China who married one of the famous Soong sisters (a generalissimo named Chiang Kai-Shek married another), manages to be both a descendant of Confucius and, in the eyes of the commies, a prime Chinese war criminal.

INEZ ROBB

The jovial doctor (monetary, not medical), who bustles virtually unnoticed through Wall Street every day, is also loyal to the Kuomintang and yet an ardent advocate and supporter of world government.

Dr. Kung, who is a long-distance advisor of his famous brother-in-law and who is still a member of the central political committee of the Nationalist party, touched on his interest in world government recently at a marathon news conference, which established records for both hospitality and longevity.

The doctor, who has fought shy of the press since he came here to live a few years ago after resigning as Chinese finance minister in 1945, held a news conference that began shortly before noon, continued through a leisurely luncheon and ended at 4 p. m., when reporters insisted on rushing back for afternoon tiffin with their editors.

As we parted, Dr. Kung distributed sandal wood fans, a thoughtful gift in this torrid summer, but one of the men reporters seemed a bit dubious about using it in person.

Occasionally during Dr. Kung's running hospitality, a reporter, accustomed to 60-minute interviews at most, would excuse himself, seek a telephone and assure his cynical city desk he was neither dead nor drunk.

But we learned a lot, including such diverse pieces of intelligence as Dr. Kung's attempt at the Dumbarton Oaks conference in 1944 to sell Pres. Roosevelt on the organization of a world or universal army to maintain law and order and crack down on aggressors.

Dr. Kung thought such an army would save the United States a huge armament bill, cut American taxes and enable the nation to retire the $250,000,000,000 debt incurred by World War II.

But while Mr. Roosevelt "agreed in principle" with Dr. Kung, the president didn't believe the rest of the world was ready for such a move.

* * *

That's What He Says.

DR. KUNG branded as "malicious communist smear propaganda" the wide-spread stories that the Kung and Soong families have waxed fabulously rich as China has waxed more and more wretched.

"It's just an attempt to smear Chiang Kia-Shek," he said, speaking warmly of his brother-in-law. Next, Dr. Kung tried to clear up the ambiguous position now occupied by the generalissimo in Nationalist China.

Although Chiang has relinquished the presidency to Vice-President Li, who is now acting president of China, Chiang—none the less and not withstanding—still remains president.

That's because the founding fathers of China, when they adopted the new constitution in 1946, failed to include an article providing for a presidential resignation.

Impeachment and removal, yes! Resignation, no! So Chiang is still president, but not acting president. Anyway, that's what the man said.

Mme. Chiang, who is now living with Dr. and Mrs. Kung, will eventually return to China Dr. Kung said. "She has absolutely no plans to make her home in America," he added.

Dr. Kung also revealed that, like a lot of other men, he sometimes suffers a touch of in-law trouble, even if distinguished.

In reply to one question about his various positions in the Chinese government in the past, the American - educated Dr. Kung smiled good-naturedly but said firmly:

"Please, remember I was in the Chinese government long before I was ever the generalissimo's brother-in-law!"

Listen World

Not In the Headlines

By ELSIE ROBINSON

I GET so sick of the headlines, the violence and viciousness. . . murders and suicides. . .strikes and their attendant hunger and despair. . .all the horror that goes to make up our daily life.

It isn't the editor's fault that such things are in the headlines. A newspaper is really a market. The editor will have to print such things as long as there is a demand for them, just as the merchant puts carrots and beets in his stall. Also crime stories often serve a good purpose in apprehending criminals. But they depress me nevertheless.

And then I think of the Browns.

You never read of the Browns in the headlines. They aren't headline stuff. They neither divorce each other nor shoot their neighbors nor strangle their babies. The Browns are strictly not news.

They live in a shabby little shack on the wrong side of the tracks. Their little house is squeezed in between two tall flat buildings but there's a scrap of grounds before and forninst it and the Browns have planted every imaginable flower in that scrap of ground.

They are all old fashioned flowers, most of which they have grown from seed although now and then a kindly friend has contributed a slip or a root. There are hollyhocks and Sweet William, clove pinks and Lady Washington geraniums, stock and marigolds. There's even a straggly bush of Breath of Heaven. I think that Breath of Heaven must scent their whole house for every cracked disk and every poor stick of furniture is as sweet and shining as a new buttercup.

You can feel the love that flows between Pat and Eva Brown the minute you enter the door. You can feel it like a healing hand on your cross and weary heart.

It's there in the shining home that has so few of what we call luxuries or even conveniences. It's there in the glances they give each other, not wildly romantic glances, just tender and understanding and patient looks for whatever weaknesses they must both possess.

The Browns are expecting a baby next September. They have one little toddler already but they are happy as kids over the new event.

Counting on charity to supplement Pat's slim wages? Not they! They've reckoned the cost and the sacrifice down to the last cent. And dear old Dr. Mulcahy isn't piling on many cents. He likes babies. He likes bringing them into good homes in this troubled world. He thinks they are an asset to the community. He actually believes more people should have them. Quaint, isn't it?

No, the Browns will never make the headlines and yet I think they're the biggest headline that America has. After all, they are what made America and keeps it going.

Pays High Price

—By ANNE CAMPBELL

How high a price he pays who steals:
More than he would have paid
If all the treasures he possessed
Were on the counter laid.

He barters his immortal soul,
His freedom tossed aside.
There is no prison where a man
May from his conscience hide.

Not only does he smash his life,
But others pay with grief
When in his faithless heart he knows
He has become a thief.

Problem of 'Sleeper' Bombs Continues Long After War

LONDON — (AP) — For eight years Mrs Hannah Hall and family of Stepney ate breakfast sitting over a 2,000-pound unexploded bomb.

They never suspected it until one exciting day when the back yard started to sink An army bomb squad was called Thirty feet down they found one of Hitler's "sleepers" It had been there since 1941.

Britain still has hundreds more like it They are scattered all over the country New ones are reported every day

Twelve hundred men—German ex-prisoners and British soldiers of the royal engineers—are digging them up Seven British-laid anti-invasion coastal minefields still have to be cleared too

Some of the "sleepers" are impact bombs which for some reason didn't explode when they hit Others are deadly time bombs gone haywire It doesn't take much to start them ticking again

A little water seeping into a deteriorating fuse, a bus rumbling along a nearby street could mean sudden death to scores

Bomb disposal chiefs dislike discussing the possibility of such a tragedy, but they say it could happen A "sleeper" dropped in 1940 could awake with a roar in 1950 or even years afterward

Whether such a disaster occurs, they say, depends largely on luck So far the luck of British civilians has been miraculous

Since 1945 countless mines and unexploded bombs have been unearthed In that period they killed only three civilians, but 30 Royal engineers and three Germans died

Cites Dangers Of Kite-Flying

NEW YORK — (AP) — It's easier for today's kite-flying youngsters to draw electricity down a kite string than when Benjamin Franklin made his discoveries For that reason, says Frank L. Jones, president of the Greater New York Safety council, modern kit-flying can be far more dangerious

Jones says that if a kite comes into contact with power lines — which were nonexistent in Franklin's day — it may conduct enough electricity to cause serious accidents He warns against using thin wire or wire-threaded cord for a kite If wet, ordinary string or cord will also conduct electricity, he says

Seeks Added Farm Loans

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Talle (R-Ia) proposed today that $50,000,000 remaining from federal emergency relief money appropriated in the 1930's be made available for further operating loans to farmers.

He recommended that revolving funds be created in the federal treasury for each of the 43 states for which rural rehabilitation corporation assets now are held in trust by the secretary of agriculture. The funds originally were appropriated during the depression years.

The Iowan said that the present FHA operating-credit program was inadequate to meet the needs of the growing number of veterans who are taking on-the-farm training under the GI Bill of Rights.

Social Activities

Mansfielders Find Fun Out-of-Doors

By ANN SCHOENMAN

Webster defines summer as "the season of the year, in any region, which the sun shines most directly there; the warmest period of the year."

Summer is the time for being outdoors and spending as little time as possible in the house.

This year, more than ever before, Mansfielders are spending their vacations in their own backyards, gathered around an open fireplace or picnicking at a roadside park.

Sports go with summer like whipped cream with strawberry shortcake. Nowadays, people wouldn't pass a summer without taking part in some form of sports.

When the first few days of spring arrive, the man of the house hunts out his golf bag and clubs from the back of the hall closet. Then it's a session of a glass on the living room rug and the practice putting shorts until he's almost sure he can beat Joe, at the office. After that it's try and find him on Sunday mornings or afternoons.

That's the time too when the wife takes a spree at dieting. She's usually trying to duplicate the bathing beauty seen at the pool last week, or the slick chick in the shorts who was passed while on a ride yesterday. Secretly she knows that everyone states that it's easier to lose weight in the summer. Reason? It's so hot no one feels like eating much.

In the accompanying pictures are scenes of various activities enjoyed by a group of Mansfielders.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gabor, 568 Westview boulevard, prepare their boat for sailing on Mifflin lake. Mr. Gabor, an active member of the Mohican Sailing club, was recently elected commodore. Mrs. Gabor is also an enthusiast fan of sailing the blue.

Croquet may resemble an easy game, but don't let it fool you. There's more to it than hitting a little ball around. The ball has to be aimed just right so it goes through the little metal hoops like Marilyn Gresmer, 130 West First street, prepares to do. Waiting for their turn are Mrs. Kay Grass, who has been visiting Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Searle, 81 Sturges avenue, from High Wycombe, England, Beverly McKeehen, 144 West First street, Mrs. Searle and Kathe Searle.

Mrs. Paul Eliot, 40 Bartley avenue, spent several days last week with her sons at their country home on South Main street road. In the yard a badminton court has been erected. Mrs. Eliot prepares to serve the birdie to her son, David. The fans are Philip Baer, a friend from Little Washington, and Herbie Eliot.

Nestled in some woods on Hanley road is a little cabin with a brick fireplace outdoors. This is where Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Haire, 58 Glessner avenue, spend hot summer evenings. Mrs. Isadore Moore, 155 Blymyer avenue, puts another piece of wood on the fire while Mrs. Haire and Mrs. Almeda Sharp, 49 Helen avenue, cook their meal.

The attendants were gowned in lilac, yellow and aqua. The dresses were all fashioned alike, with high round necklines, drop shoulder yokes, edged in wide ruffles of marquisette, and full skirts.

Their headpieces were hairbraid bonnets in Mary of Scot style, trimmed with an arrangement of multicolored flowers. The two flower girls wore white gowns and little poke bonnets of hairbraid trimmed with flowers.

The attendants carried assorted colonial arrangements of flowers with cellophane backgrounds blending in with the color of their gowns.

Mrs. Herold chose for her daughter's wedding a navy blue dress with pink accessories. Mrs. Malthaner wore a navy blue with white accessories. Both had corsages of Briarcliff roses.

Steve Herold, the bride's brother, served as best man. Harold Foss, John Wincek and Alfred Barrett, the latter two cousins of the bridegroom, escorted guests to their pews.

A supper was served to 175 guests at 6 o'clock at G. B. U. park with a reception following. The hall was decorated with white, lavender, aqua and yellow streamers.

After a wedding trip through the Great Lakes, the couple will reside at R. D. 3. They will be at home to friends after August 15.

The bride is employed at Swan's laundry. The bridegroom is employed as a mechanic.

Out-of-town guests were present for the wedding from Massillon, Akron, Cleveland and Urichsville.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT — Mr. and Mrs. A. D. McKenzie, 345 Ruth avenue, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Julia, to Robert S. Watterson III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Watterson jr., 442 East School street, Salem, Ohio. Miss McKenzie graduated from Tucson Senior High school, Tucson, Arizona, and is attending Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh. Mr. Watterson graduated from Salem High school and is a junior at Carnegie Institute of Technology. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Hrivnak Wed In Formal Nuptial Rite

Before an altar banked with palms and two bouquets of white and purple flowers, Miss Frances Virginia Hrivnak became the bride of Robert Duane Gassaway, July 23, during a nuptial high mass at 10:30 o'clock in St. Peter's Catholic church.

The Rev. Father James O'Grady officiated for the double ring, open church ceremony. Raymond Baum presided at the organ.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hrivnak, 108 Jeannette avenue, was escorted to the altar by her father. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Gassaway sr., 112 Jeannette avenue.

The bride's gown was fashioned of sheer starched marquisette and Chantilly lace. It had a round neckline and bodice of lace. Self covered buttons ran down the back of the bodice. A midriff with a double pointed effect of bands of lace and marquisette cut into the skirt and fell into wide panels in the back. The skirt extended into a very wide long train.

Her headpiece was a queen's crown of pearls which held a double circular veil of French illusion. The bridal bouquet was centered around the bride's mother's orange blossom crown which she had worn at her own wedding. The crown was surrounded by gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Clayton Gassaway jr., the bride's sister, served as her only attendant. Her gown was made of the same material as the bride's in an orchid shade. The lace bodice was fashioned with cap sleeves and a full peplum of lace was attached. The full skirt was worn over a stiff taffeta and crinoline petticoat. She wore lace gauntlets which ended just above her elbows.

Her headpiece was an old fashioned poke bonnet of Chantilly lace fashioned with an open crown and trimmed in multicolored floral arrangements. She carried an arrangement of California asters.

Master Edward Hrivnak, the bride's nephew, served as ring bearer.

Mrs. Hrivnak chose for her daughter's wedding a white and navy blue print dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a summer black dress with black accessories. Both women wore gardenia corsages.

Clayton Leroy Gassaway, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man. Roy Hrivnak, the bride's brother, and Richard Gassaway, the bridegroom's brother, served as ushers.

A reception for 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's brother, 115 Columbia avenue. The two large tables in the dining room were centered with a three tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Pink roses were the appointments used for the buffet luncheon.

PENNSYLVANIA: Offers Variety In Historical Sites

By ANN SCHOENMAN

"Four score and seven years ago——" these words, memorized by every child of school age, were spoken where we plan to spend our all too short vacation. This week we'll visit the "birthplace of state and nation", Pennsylvania.

After a visit to Gettysburg Battlefield, where new links in the strong chain of unity in America were forged among the fires of bitter strife, rich memories of the Blue and Gray linger.

In this same section of the state is located President Buchanan's "Summer White" at Bedford Springs. The Polly Pitcher monument, at Carlisle, honors the Revolutionary War heroine.

The rich farmlands which sturdy Pennsylvania - German husbandry for two centuries has made it the garden spot of America are in the southeastern section. The quaint costumes worn by the farmers and the dialect used add the color to our journey on highways that sweep past great Swiss-bank barns and wind through rich dairylands and thriving fields of varied crops.

The savory food specialties of that part of the state bring to life old German recipes which have been handed down centuries old.

Washington's headquarters in Valley Forge can be visited in this area along with the Moravian Bell house in Bethlehem built in 1745 to warn of Indian attacks; Caleb Pusey house located in Chester, the oldest house in Pennsylvania being built in 1683; Independence Hall, Philadelphia, birthplace of American freedom, and the "Pennsbury", William Penn's manor in Bucks County. Penn's home was restored in 1938.

Adding their vacation lure to this state are the Pocono mountains. The woods, lakes, streams and graceful waterfalls combine together to make a mecca for tourists.

Visitors seek out this section for hunting and fishing areas, and during the winter, they take part in winter sports.

In Kipling's poetic tribute to Pennsylvania was written, "Where autumn set the maple forests blazing". This is especially apt for much of the 12,000 square miles embraced in the rugged, picturesque north-central region.

The "Grand Canyon of Pennsylvania" is the 50-mile-long Pine Creek Gorge. Vantage points such as Leonard Harrison and Colton Point Lookouts, near Wellsboro provide panoramic views of the gorge, whose walls rise 1,000 feet above the creek's clear rushing waters.

These historical sites mentioned are but a few of the many wonders of our neighbor to the east, Pennsylvania.

Modern Structure Marks 27 Years of Pioneering

Complete Gravel Washing Plant

By VIRGINIA LEE
N-J State Correspondent

LUCAS — Installation of Richland county's only gravel washing plant was completed last week at the H. W. Fleck and Son company in Lexington 27 years after Fleck had pioneered the washed gravel and sand business in central Ohio with a home-built washing device.

The electric powered all-steel structure that washes 100 tons of gravel an hour is a far cry from the wooden contraption operated by steam that washed 150 tons a day back in 1922. Evolution of the business may be seen in comparison of the two operations.

"Output then didn't have to be so fast or so big," Fleck explained. "There was little market for washed materials. We sold only to materials dealers and building contractors in the area whose trucks hauled about two-ton loads. Today trucks travel faster and carry average loads of around 10 tons."

Ideas and many of the materials for the original washing device came from southern Ohio. The giant pump that ran about 300 gallon per minute weighed two ton and took much space. The little Gorman-Rupp pump on the modern plant weighs less than 100 pounds and is no larger than a dinner plate yet it produces 700 gallons per minute.

* * *

Total cost of the original plant was about $5,000, Fleck said. The modern installation is in excess of $40,000.

"Price of washed materials has remained fairly constant through the years," Fleck stressed. "Even though the equipment and labor costs are higher, one man now does the work of two or three. It took six or seven men to run the old washing plant, only three to operate this one."

Among the first buildings for which Fleck's washed sand or gravel was used were: the Colby and Earick garage, Walpark building and Citizen's National Bank. He furnished cushion sand under the brick on Mansfield's public square.

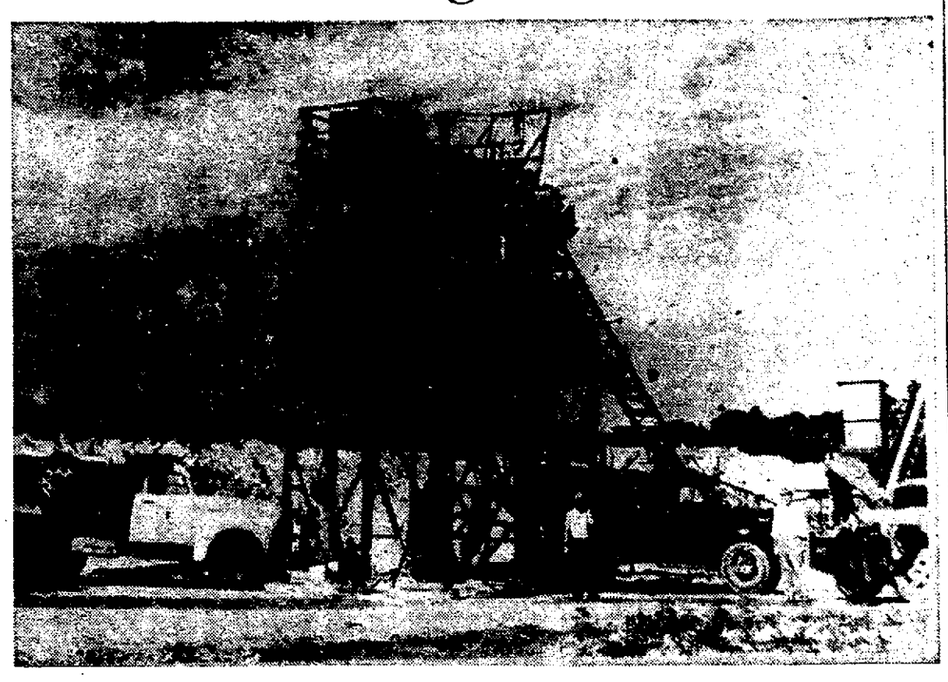
Fleck started in the gravel business at his farm on State Route 13, four miles south of Mansfield. Horses and scrapers were used then to remove overburden in stripping operations. Now one bulldozer can uncover as much in a day as 10 teams did in a week. He built the first washing plant on the home farm two years later when there was no washing plant closer than Chillicothe or that of Congressman J. Harry McGregor at West Lafayette.

* * *

Ten years ago when the county's secondary road system was being improved, Fleck abandoned his washing plant and began selling crushed gravel. He has operated pits in various sections of the area with his main operation at Lexington for the past several years.

Harold Fleck became a partner of his father in 1946 following his discharge from army service.

With most roads already graveled, future resurfacing operations will call for the use of washed materials for concrete or black top, the father-son team theorized. Their new plant soon is to be presented for public inspection at open house.



COUNTY'S ONLY GRAVEL WASHING PLANT—The H. W. Fleck and Son company of Lexington, last week completed Richland county's only gravel washing plant at Cook and Alta roads near Lexington. The plant, shown above, marks 27 years of pioneering by Fleck.

Old Fashioned Threshing Day Dinner Offers Best In Food and Sociability

Once an agricultural institution, the old time threshing day dinner is gradually becoming a rarity. Changing methods of harvesting have doomed a country festivity unmatched for sociability and good food, and as a spur to worthwhile accomplishment.

But here and there threshing is still done without a combine and the neighbors still band together to work, and gather at noon around a table groaning with appetizing food.

Such was the case Wednesday at the Clarence Chambers farm located on Chambers road a short distance off Millsboro road. Twenty-two neighbors joined forces to thresh the oats from 33 acres. Heavy morning dew prevented an early start, but once the work was started it progressed at a steady pace.

The threshing was done in true old-fashioned style, with a cumbersome steam engine furnishing the power, mainly because of James Chambers, 15, and his sister Kathryn, nine.

"Jimmie and Kathryn wanted to see the old engine run again," explained their father, Clarence Chambers, so I started it up."

The old engine, the last to leave the yards of Aultman & Taylor some 30-odd years ago, had been unused for the past three years. To several of the workers who have long resided in the neighborhood, it was like an old friend. They recalled tales of the work done by the engine in past years, including road grading jobs.

Chambers formerly operated several threshing rigs and used the big 25-horse power steam engine frequently. But now even he admits that the old machine is little more than a relic, even though it still delivers a smooth steady flow of power that gasoline motors rated at the same horsepower cannot match.

But the old engine is too big—it weighs 21 tons—and too slow in moving from place to place to compete with tractors.

The threshers worked steadily at their task during the morning and no one stopped to complain of being hungry. But the eyes took on a look of pleased anticipation when the faces of all when the dinner bustle sounded.

Mrs. Chambers and her several assistants were busy when the hungry men arrived. Loaded on the big table were dozens of dishes and platters all filled with well-prepared food. There were heaping platters of tender beef, mashed potatoes and big bowls of brown meat gravy, succotash, potato salad, beets, pickles, applesauce, vegetable salad, cucumbers, bread, butter, cheese, preserves and several other dishes.

The diners topped off this repast with dessert consisting of pie, cake, ice cream and canteloupe. The choice of eating one or all of the desserts was left to the discretion of the diner, the choice depending mainly on their capacity.

Sixteen men were seated at the first table. When they had finished, the table was cleared and refilled. The six other threshers and four guests then started a second vain attempt to empty the brimming dishes. But when they had finished there was still enough food left to feed a room full of dainty city eaters — had they been available.

* * *

2. WASHING UP—At the toot of a whistle on the old steam engine, the threshers begin preparing for the dinner recess by washing in basins filled to the brim with cool water from the pump.

* * *

3. STILL CAPABLE—This steam engine, the last one built by Aultman & Taylor in Mansfield, still runs smoothly and quietly despite its age and long service.

* * *

* * *

5. LOTS OF FUN—For Kathryn Chambers, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chambers, threshing day is a busy one even though she doesn't have to do as much work as the horse.

* * *

6. ALMOST TIME—It's a busy time for the womenfolk, too—and without them a threshing dinner wouldn't amount to much. Here Mrs. Clarence Chambers and her niece Janee Kleilein (background) begin serving up the food.

* * *

7. HAULERS—Bringing in the oats to feed the hungry threshing machines keeps the men busy.

* * *

8. THRESHING—Gradually the threshing machine blows out a huge pile of straw while the grain is sacked and hauled to storage. Later the straw will be baled.

Pumper Pitchers Stingy

BULLETIN

Jeromesville provided the biggest upset of the tournament in the third game last night as it eliminated powerful Ashland Garber Printing, 3-2. Stan McFarlin singled home Justin Zehner with the winning run in the last of the seventh. Jeromesville will meet Gorman-Rupp Wednesday.

★

Gorman-Rupp and Westinghouse survived first round play with little trouble in district tournament games before a packed house at Gorman-Rupp field last night.

Gorman-Rupp came from behind to defeat Bucyrus Swan Rubber, 7-1, and Westinghouse walloped Mazza's Cafe of Mt. Vernon, 10-5.

The Pumpers, playing on their own field, had little trouble with Bucyrus after they got started and overcame an early disadvantage. Swan scored a run in the first inning on a "mental error" by Ted Bush and held the lead until the fourth inning. Bush held the ball at second base on a force play while Hank Laipply raced all the way home from second.

In the fourth, Al Baki led off with a double for Gorman-Rupp and Ted Bush and Pete Campbell followed with singles. A triple by Wayne Hough and another single by Bud McKee brought the score to 4-1.

Bob Regula and Kenny Windsor combined to pitch a near-perfect game as they retired the side in order in every inning after the first. Regula struck out eight men in five innings while Windsor fanned five in the last two.

They gave up only one hit and did not walk a batter.

Westinghouse had little trouble in its game as it won the right to meet the Ashland Indians next Tuesday. Fritz Vogel limited Mazza's to five hits and struck out five men.

The tournament will resume Monday with the following schedule: Shelby Owls vs. Todd's Jewelry, Veterans of Foreign Wars vs. Office Cafe, and Sons of Herman vs. Bud's Sport Shop.

Giants Edge Cards 3-to-1 In St. Louis

ST. LOUIS —(AP)— With former Mexican leaguer Adrian Zabala turning in a six-hit pitching job, the New York Giants defeated the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals 3-1 last night before a crowd of 28,193.

This left the Redbirds still a half game ahead of the runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers, who lost to Cincinnati yesterday afternoon.

Zabala had a three-hitter until the Cardinals scored their lone run in the eighth on singles by Tommy Glaviano and Red Schoendienst and a double by Stan Musial. Schoendienst tried to score on Musial's double, but was out at the plate on a tremendous throw by Right Fielder Monte Irvin.

Giant pitchers now have allowed only seven runs in their last eight games.

Nippy Jones of the Cardinals hit one into the left field bleachers in the first inning with a man on, but it didn't count. Umpire Jocko Conlan had called a balk on Zabala a moment before the pitch and ruled that the pitch, and the homer, would not count.

Whitey Lockman doubled down the left field line in the first inning, driving in Hank Thompson with the first run. Thompson singled as the inning started.

A double against the right field pavilion screen by Sid Gordon and a single by Irvin in the fourth produced the Giants' second run.

"SERVICE ACE" — Lowell Bourns, veteran Mansfield tennis star, serves an ace during a practice session at the Woodland club. Bourns, oft-times Mansfield champion, will be one of the top netters competing in the annual News-Journal tennis tourney which opens next week end. (News-Journal photo).

Ex-Champions Sign for N-J Tennis Joust

Two more former champions last night joined the cast of the annual News-Journal city tennis tournament which opens next Saturday at the Woodland club.

Mary Saprano and Vi Hipp, two of the ranking women's racket swingers, both placed their names in the singles division. They had previously entered the doubles competition, a division which they had won several years ago.

Mrs. Saprano and Mrs. Hipp are sisters, and both are prime threats to lift the singles crown from Elinor Hattman. Mrs. Saprano has won six Mansfield championships while last year's title was the first for Mrs. Hattman.

Entry list in the tourney has passed the 30 point with the deadline listed for Wednesday at midnight. Times for all first round matches will be listed in Friday's News-Journal. Entry blank for the competition is on page 16.

Entry into the tourney is free with all players furnishing their own tennis balls. All contestants must wear tennis shoes on the three Woodland courts, where all matches will be played.

Latest entries include: Boys' singles — Billy Reale, John Crouse, Bob Black, Charles Robertson; men's doubles — Bob Black and Don Black, Reale and Crouse, Norman Wilcox and Marvin White; women's singles —Marilyn Miller, Diane Moore; men's singles—Bernard Geiger, Wilcox.

Reale and Crouse were members of the Senior high school net team.

Reds Send Quick Call for Catcher

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The Cincinnati Reds last night sent out a hurry-up recall order to the Syracuse Chiefs of the International league for Catcher John Pramesa.

Walker Cooper, who has been catching virtually every game for the Reds, was hit on the thumb of his right hand in the eighth inning of yesterday's contest with Brooklyn and had to leave the game. He was sent to a hospital for an examination to determine whether the thumb might be broken.

Ask Waivers On Reliefers

PITTSBURGH—(AP)— The Pittsburgh baseball club yesterday asked waivers on Relief Pitcher Hugh Casey in order to give the veteran his unconditional release. Release of Casey will make room on the roster for Jack Phillips, purchased from the New York Yankees.

The Yanks recalled Pitcher Bob Porterfield from their Newark farm after selling Phillips.

Phillips batted .311 for the Yankees in 43 games this year. The purchase price was estimated at $30,000.

Porterfield, outstanding in spring practice, twice injured his arm in early season games and was sent to Newark to recover.

Sergeant Wins Army Air Force Golf Title

DAYTON — (AP) — Sgt. Harold B. Ridgeley of Maxwell Field, Ala., won the Air Force golf championship here yesterday with a 285 total for 72 holes.

Runner-up was Capt. Fred G. Moseley, Portsmouth, Va., representing the USAF European command in Germany. He trailed one stroke behind the sergeant.

Galion 9 Loses In Finale

COLUMBUS — Cincinnati remained queen of American Legion junior baseball here yesterday as it out-manned Galion's "Cinderalla" nine and won the state finals, 11-0.

Budde Post was the Cincinnati representative this time, replacing the Bartley Post team which defeated Mansfield for the state title last year.

The two games which Galion won Friday while Cincinnati was resting evidently made too much difference. Galion had used up two of its best pitchers while Cincinnati had Walter Rutenschroer primed for the contest.

ENDERS GOES ROUTE

Rutenschroer allowed only six hits and struck out seven while permitting only three Galion batters to reach third base, Bill Enders, who had pitched and won two games previously in the tournament, went all the way for Galion. The team's other two pitchers, Ray Seif and Gene Pritchard, had each worked a game Friday.

Galion had gotten into the tournament only when Lorain was disqualified and did not even know it would play until four hours before taking the field Monday. Several of the players could not be found in time to rush them into the first game.

Galion had a 13-2 record before getting into the state tournament, having copped 13 straight before losing twice to Lorain in the district finals.

Bewitch Winner In Handicap

CHICAGO —(AP)— Calumet Farm's Bewitch, queen of the nation's fillies as a juvenile two years ago, yesterday charged to a half length victory over Dandilly in the $28,200 Misty Isle handicap at Washington park.

Bewitch, ridden by Jockey Steve Brooks, thus made amends for her failure to triumph in only one race in nine starts this year. She added $19,200 to Calumet Farm's bulging bankroll.

FOULS ONE OFF—Frank Jefferies, Mansfield Ohio Sport Center, fouls off a pitch in the Hot Stove league's first annual state tournament yesterday in Wooster. The Mansfield second sacker is one of the leading batsmen in the state meet which winds up today. Yesterday, Sport Center smashed Wooster McIntire Funeral Home, 15 to 3. The Wooster catcher and the umpire follow the flight of the ball, lower right. (News-Journal staff photo).

Yankees Become Bronx Bombers of Old To Smash Browns With Six Home Runs

By RALPH RODEN

NEW YORK —(AP)— The New York Yankees yesterday staged one of their greatest home run hitting displays since their pennant winning years of 1936-39, blasting out six home runs to edge the St. Louis Browns, 9-8.

Trailing all the way, the Yanks won in the ninth inning when with one out, Tommy Henrich and Joe DiMaggio belted successive home runs. DiMaggio's blow was his second of the game and tenth of the season. Henrich's blast was his 20th. The other Yank homers belonged to little Phil Rizzuto, who hit two, and Squat Yogi Berra. The Browns piled up an early 8-3 lead, thanks to home runs by Paul Lehner, Sherm Lollar and Gerry Priddy.

The nine home runs fell one short of tying the Major league record for most home runs hit in a single game by two clubs.

Lefty Joe Page, fourth Yankee pitcher, received credit for the victory, his tenth. Cliff Fannin, who made only one pitch, DiMaggio's second homer, was the loser.

The triumph also increased the Yanks' American league margin to four games over the Cleveland Indians. The Indians bowed, 2-0, to the Athletics in Philadelphia.

Lefty Mel Parnell became the first Major league pitcher to win 16 games as he pitched the red hot Boston Red Sox to a 3-0 triumph over the Detroit Tigers. The victory was Boston's seventh straight and their second consecutive shutout over the Tigers.

DIMAG HITS IN 33rd

Parnell checked the Tigers on five hits, walked only one and fanned three. Dom DiMaggio collected two of the Sox' nine hits to stretch his consecutive game hitting streak to 33.

Ted Williams tripled and Vern Stephens doubled for Boston's first run in the opening inning. Johnny Pesky and Bobby Doerr doubled for another run in the sixth and Al Zarilla doubled home Billy Goodman with the final marker in the eighth.

The Chicago White Sox edged the Washington Senators, 6-5, in a 12-inning battle at Washington. Doubles by Dave Philley and Cass Michaels were the deciding blows.

Shortstop Luke Appling of the White Sox played his 2,154th game at that post to break the previous Major league record held by Rabbit Maranville.

The Cincinnati Reds upset the National league's pennant contending Brooklyn Dodgers, 5-2. The Reds scored all of their runs in the eighth inning with the aid of three errors by Dodger third sacker Billy Cox.

Herm Wehmeier went all the way for the Reds and allowed the Dodgers four hits in posting his seventh victory and fifth straight.

The Philadelphia Phillies edged the Pitsburgh Pirates, 4-3, Dick Sisler winning the game in the ninth inning with a pinch-hit single.

Del Ennis and Andy Seminick homered for the Phils and Dino Restelli and Ralph Kiner for the Pirates. Kiner's blow was his 28th of the season.

SOCKS 24th HOMER

The Chicago Cubs trounced the Boston Braves, 10-4, to extend Boston's losing streak to five games. Hank Sauer socked his 24th homer and Andy Pafko his 14th for the Cubs.

Walt Dubiel had the Braves blanked on one hit going into the ninth when with two out the Braves wrapped out six straight singled good for four runs.

Two Richland County Games Slated Today

Two games will be played in the Richland county baseball league today but T. and E. Tavern's league lead will not be at stake.

The Tavern nine makes a non-league appearance, while runner-up Lexington will be idle.

Lucas is scheduled to invade Shelby while the Mansfield Hawks play at Butler in the league tilts. It will be the first second half start for Shelby.

T. and E., meanwhile, will be battling Cardington at Liberty park in a game scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p. m. Either Mike Watchorn or Al Boyer will get the mound call for the Tavern nine.

Ontario also has a non-league game on the docket, playing host to the Crestline Merchants at 2:30. Either Manager Walter Sandel or Goebel Hall jr. will do the pitching.

Playoff to decide the first half champion of the league has not yet been set up. The Hawks, Butler, Lucas, and Lexington all ended the schedule with four victories and two defeats.

Harry Todd Rips 'Tam' for Sweet 65 to Take 2nd

CHICAGO — (AP) — Harry Todd of Dallas, Tex., knocking brilliant approaches for a seven-under-par 65, yesterday barged within a stroke of yesterday's pacesetter, Lloyd Mangrum, as the first round of the $20,000 All-American professional tourney ended.

Todd banged home eight birdies to finish two taps ahead of leading money-winner Sammy Snead and Bill Nary of Los Angeles, who had 67's.

A throng of 7,000 wandered over gaily-bedecked Tam O'Shanter course as some 120 tardy starters rushed after the eight-under-par 64 Mangrum posted in Friday's first installment of the opening round.

The actual third spot holders, ahead of Snead and Nary, were Chick Harbert and Jim Turnesa, who fashioned 66's Friday.

Autos Battle Tavern Team

Rubber game of the Mansfield city series between Penn Auto-Sporting Goods and T. & E. Tavern is scheduled Wednesday at 5:30 p. m. on the Blue Goose field.

Each of the outfits has won one game in the series. The Taverns took the first contest, 8 to 6, while Penn Auto evened it up 6-1 behind the classy two-hit pitching of Shelly Swank. The Ohio U. chucker will be trying for his fourth straight victory Wednesday.

Penn Auto's game today with Harpster was called off. The Autos, state semi-pro baseball champions in 1948, have now won 12 of 19 games, including wins in the lase five starts.

The Autos will practice Tuesday at 5 p. m. at Blue Goose.

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J.—(AP)— Gardnar Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., yesterday entered the finals of the 23rd annual Eastern Grass court championships by upsetting top seeded Billy Talbert of New York.

Mulloy won 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. He will meet Art Larsen of San Francisco in the finals today.

Fowler Pitches Shutout

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) Dick Fowler outpitched Bob Lemon yesterday as the Philadelphia Athletics took a 2 to 0 verdict over the Cleveland Indians. The second place Indians are now only one and one-half games ahead of Boston, the Red Sox taking a 3-0 victory over Detroit at Boston.

Fowler's win was his 11th of the year and his second consecutive shutout and fourth victory over the Indians. He was in serious trouble only in the third and fourth innings.

Mike Guerra singled, Fowler sacrificed and Wally Moses' singled to account for the A's first run in the second inning. Guerra tripled in the eighth, scoring Nelson Fox with the only other run of the game.

Fowler became the first hurler to register two shutouts against the Tribe this year.

Fowler previously shutout Cleveland, 8-0 July 15 at Cleveland.

In dropping the Indians four games behind the Yankees, he allowed eight hits, but ran to 26 the number of consecutive innings he has held the Cleveland club scoreless. He walked five, but left 11 runners stranded on the bases.

Lemon suffered his seventh defeat, against 13 victories. It was his third loss of the present eastern trip.

NO CAN SCORE

In the first inning with one out, Larry Doby singled and Mickey Vernon walked, but Fowler got Manager Lou Boudreau and Joe Gordon on pop flies. Cleveland threatened again in the third, after one was out. Dale Mitchell singled and reached third on a double by Doby, but Vernon popped out and Eddie Joost took Boudreau's grounder.

The Indians had Fowler in trouble in the fourth, but couldn't cash in. Gordon singled, but was at second when a hit-and-run play misfired. Thurman Tucker and Johnny Berardino singled, Jim Hegan made the second out on a fly, and then Fowler filled the bases by giving Lemon a pass. But Mitchell was an easy out on a tap to second baseman Nelson Fox.

After that, Lemon's single in the seventh and his double in the ninth were all the hits the Tribe could manage.

The loss by the Indians was their ninth of the season to the A's, five of them in Shibe park and four at home. They have beaten the Athletics only three times in Philadelphia this year, and four times in Cleveland.

Today Early Wynn will hurl the opener of a double-header here, seeking his tenth victory against two defeats. His opponent will be Lou Brissie, who has a 10-6 record. In the second contest Al Benton will pitch for the Tribe and Joe Coleman for the home team. Benton has won three and lost the same number. Coleman has won nine and lost 10.

Rangers Plan 1st Scrimmage

The 41-man Mansfield Rangers pro football squad will open its second week of practice Monday at 6:45 p. m. at Tappan field.

Coach Jimmy Lymper announced last night that the squad would be cut to thirty players during workouts Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Practice uniforms will be issued to players Wednesday.

First scrimmage session of the Rangers is scheduled next Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. at Stadium field.

Lymper is still impressed on the dexterity of Ralph Majors as a T formation quarterback. Majors has been looking good as a passer. Willis Walker, former Cleveland East gridder, is backing up Majors.

Play Today

Todd's Jewelry will meet Westinghouse in an exhibition softball game at 3 p. m. today at Prospect park.

Satchel May Be Man of Many Pitches But Relies Only on Fast Ball

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Ageless Satchel Paige, the Cleveland Indians' colorful relief hurler, says there's only one pitch to use when you are in a jam—the fast ball.

Although the ancient Negro has a variety of deliveries ranging from the bat dodger to the hesitation pitch, he calls on just one when the chips are down.

"My fast ball is my best pitch—and it's the only one you'll see me throw over the plate when I'm in a jam," Paige explains. "I keep telling those kids in the bullpen: 'Throw your fast ball. It's the surest way I know to get out of trouble.'"

For such new-fangled pitches as the slider, lanky Satch has only contempt.

"These kids say to me: 'Satch, what are going to do when you can't throw that fast ball any more? You'd better get to working on a slider.'"

But Paige has a ready answer: "Man, I'm not on my way into baseball. I'm on my way out. What I can't throw now, I'll never have to throw. When that fast ball is gone, Old Satch will be gone right with it."

Even if he were 20 years younger, it would still be the fast ball in the clutch for Satch.

"When you come in there on a relief," he points out, "you ain't throwing at no banjo hitters. You're pitching to the big men, the real fence-busters. Am I goin' to throw one of those fellows a pitch I don't know where's it goin? Huh-uh. Not Old Satch."

Paige's distaste for fungo-shagging to keep the pitchers' legs in shape is a standing joke in the wigwam. "When does he ever run?" is the universal question.

Paige explains that he isn't opposed to exercise and isn't tired. He just doesn't want to get tired.

"When I'm called into a game in a tough spot, I need everything I got—arm, head, eyes and legs. I don't want to walk in there wishing I wasn't so tired. So I try to keep from getting tired."

Satch, who has a 4-5 record for the season, was told he has done an excellent job on the Tribe's present road trip.

"I don't rightly know," he replied. "Man, you'd be amazed how little I know when I'm out there on the mound. All I know for sure is that there's a fellow at that plate with a big stick in his hand. It's him and me, and maybe he'll hurt me. But if he does, he's got to hit that fast ball."

STINE

TEE TIME

By Charley Stine

(News-Journal Sports Writer)

Mansfield golfers who complain about the greens at Possum Run and Coolridge had better take a tour of other courses in the state, then come back home and keep quiet. According to all the "crying" going on at the Ohio Peddler's tournament last Monday in Lima, most courses were far worse hit this year than the locals. Some owners said they had as many as five and six greens out

Conversely, Possum Run held up fine under the hot weather and Coolridge is making a swift comeback.

★

The par five number 12 hole at Possum Run may be a tough one for experienced golfers, but not for Johnny Vaneff.

Vaneff, playing the first round of golf of his life last Sunday, took an eagle on the hole. Two drives put him on the green and he sank a six foot putt for his eagle three.

"Beginner's luck," Vaneff smiled.

★

Speaking of eagles, Ned Simon, the City B league secretary who has been touring local golf courses for longer than he may want to admit, got his first during his vacation. Ned has had to settle for birdies on Mansfield links but batted in a three on the 500-yard par five 2nd hole at Barberton's Loyal Oak.

★

Over a thousand U. S. golfers will be eliminated before the National Amateur champion is crowned at Oak Hill Country club in Rochester on Sept. 3. That's how many have entered sectional qualifiers, but not a Mansfield man in the lot. Willie Turnesa is defending champ.

★

At least three national headliners will be in the field of the Ohio Open, Aug. 22-24 at Massillon's Shady Hollow. Already in with entries are Denny Shute, three time champion, Herman Keiser, the country's leading money winner in 1946, and defending champ Frank Stranahan. Stranahan won last year at Sylvania Country club, Toledo.

Joe Mayer and Nick Linster will enter the pro ranks from here but the Mansfield amateur entrants are still among the missing.

★

Dates for the Women's City championship and best - ball tournament will probably be settled at the meeting of the Mansfield Athletic commission's Golf committee Thursday night. The committee is to meet for the purpose of making pairings for next Sunday's city best-ball but will likely set up the women's program.

The City championship will be Sept. 11 with the best-ball either Aug. 28 or Sept. 4 or 5.

While on the subject of women, we wonder just what percentage of male golfers can match the 36-42 shot by Lil LeMunyon at Possum Run last week. There are only two women's tees at Possum Run, and they shorten the entire 18 only about a hundred yards.

★

Another date for which linksmen are waiting is that of the Richland County tourney. County Golf association President Carl Wiseman has not been able to get the officials together for a meeting but has revealed that the likely date will be Sunday, Sept. 4, only four weeks away.

★

Dear Stine:

Boy, this golfing racket is something! When I started out a few weeks ago everybody told me it was expensive. So I fooled 'em. I borrowed some clubs and bought two balls. These I kept socking into ditches, woods, etc., each time finding several others. Now I have plenty of balls but there's a funny thing about some of 'em.

I found four in the underbrush on number 11 at Possum Run and they had Charles Stine written all over 'em. I stopped at the club house to see Irish McGee, and he tells me some bird by the name of Stine slapped all his balls, all his partner's balls and a couple of others he found over into this same general area. He also tells me this same Stine had to halt the game while he went back to the club house for more balls.

Now, I've got some of those balls and if they're yours all you have to do is whistle. But if you admit they're yours, what are you going to tell me and the other two readers of Tee Time as your alibi?

Tee off on that one, Bub!

A. B. Ginner.

Gus to Try For Kayo of 'Ez' Charles

SUMMIT, N. J. — (AP) — Confidence oozes from Gus Lesnevich as he trains for his title fight with Ezzard Charles, the NBA heavyweight champ, at Yankee Stadium Wednesday.

"I'm going to beat him," said muffin-faced Gus. "I'll go for a knockout if I can."

"Fighting for the heavyweight title is the dream of all fighters," he said, as might be expected, "I was all set to fight Joe Louis last year until that Mills thing happened."

"That Mills thing" was a 15-round bout at London last July in which Gus lost his world light heavyweight crown.

"How come you and Charles never get together when he was a light heavyweight contender?" Gus was asked.

"Manager trouble," he answered, "we were going to fight once at Cincinnati but they wanted to shift it to Cleveland and Joe (Manager Joe Vella) would not go for that.

"I've seen him fight several times. I saw him against Jersey Joe Walcott at Chicago the night he won the title. You couldn't tell much about him that night because of Walcott's strange style.

'PRETTY GOOD'

"But he's a pretty good fighter, don't let anybody kid you. He punches pretty good and he's fast. I saw him fight Elmer Ray and Joe Baksi, too."

"Yes, I'm ready if it has to go 15 rounds," Gus says. "I won't get cautious. I think I'd open up if I get him hurt.

"I think Eagan (Chairman Eddie Eagan of the New York State Athletic Commission) is wrong in not recognizing Charles. He's a good fighter and it will be a good fight but I'm going to beat him.

Ezzard Charles, meanwhile, has been ducking predictions at his Pompton Lakes, N. J. training base. Pinning down the NBA heavyweight champion is as tough as beating him. Few can do it.

Will he knock out Gus Lesnevich next Wednesday night in their 15-round bout at the Yankee Stadium?

"If he gets in the way," said Ez, "he'll probably get knocked out."

Charles pays little attention to talk of Lesnevich's plans for a body attack. He has his own ideas about the kind of a fight to expect.

"I read about him planning that right to the body," said the Cincinnati Negro, "Maybe, but I remember his left hook is pretty nice. I ain't telling you what I'm going to do and I don't think he's saying either."

Wills Named Miami Coach

OXFORD—(AP)—Woodrow Wills, assistant football coach at Miami university for the past year, yesterday was appointed head baseball coach of the Redskins by Dr. Ernest H. Hahne, Miami university president. He succeeds W. J. "Blue" Foster, whose resignation, announced earlier, became effective in June.

A 1937 Ohio university graduate, Wills starred in football for the Bobcats and was first string catcher for three years. He spent two years in the New York Giants' farm system.

Before coming here, Wills, who is 35, coached football at Coshocton, Gallipolis and Gahanna high schools.

GETS GAME SUIT—Paul "Pinkie" Ferguson (right), Mansfield Senior high quarterback, gets his game suit from Coach Ralph Ness, Lakewood. Ferguson is one of the northern all stars who will meet a southern high school all-star team as a feature of the coaching school at Massillon this week. The game will be played Saturday night. Ness is head coach of the northern team.

400 Pigskin Professors Will Attend Ohio Clinic

By FRITZ HOWELL, Ohio AP Sports Editor

MASSILLON — Ohio's happy hunting grounds of talent-seeking collegiate coaches puts on its biggest football show next week.

The fourth annual all-star North-South High school grid game is the feature event, climaxing a five-day clinic for some 400 pigskin professors.

About 80 of the coaches are from other states, all seeking to see how it's done by the Buckeye boys. Visitors are on their way from each coast, the Canadian border and the gulf states.

The clinic, with a highly-rated staff of instructors, gets under way Tuesday and runs through Saturday. The grand finale is the all-star game at Massillon high school stadium Saturday night. All phases of football will be covered at the clinic.

Members of the coaching school staff include Wes Fesler, Ohio State; Frank Murray, Marquette; Esco Sarkkinen, Ohio State; Charles (Doc) Barrett, Columbia; Skip Stahley, Toledo; Glenn Fraser, Ohio Wesleyan; Bud Houghton, Akron; Nelson Jones, Findlay; Dike Beede, Youngstown; Luther Emery, Massillon Independent.

Sid Gilman, Cincinnati; Rae Crowther, Pennsylvania; Joe Madro, Cincinnati; Carroll Widdoes, Ohio U.; Woody Hayes, Miami; Clyde Lamb, Ohio Northern; Ray Ride, Case; Gaston Lewis, State College at Wilberforce; George Donges, Ashland; Jack McPhee, Youngstown official; Cletis Crawford, photography; Stu Holcomb, Purdue; Jack Mollenkopf, Purdue; Jack Blott, Michigan; Joe Gavin, Dayton; Ed Kluska, Xavier; Mike Scarry, Western Reserve; Paul Hoerneman, Heidelberg; Red Maurer, Wittenberg, and William Council, Western Reserve.

Grappler Gus Takes Over Russian Bear

The human of the species failed in its onslaught on Glamorous Gus, the 300-pound wrestling bear, in the Ashland road armory wrestling ring last night.

This time Ivan Rasputin, the self-styled Russian Bear, was giving an interesting account of himself against Gus until the black bear tripped him. Then it was easy for Gus to fall on for the pin in 9:15.

Ivan, all 250 pounds of him, managed, however, to stay longer with Gus than any other human wrestler.

Of course, much of the interest was directed towards Gus's bath in the ring immediately following the match. Gus splashed around and consumed one soft drink before he finished his bath.

Frederich Von Schacht, the Milwaukee giant, finished off handsome Ronnie Etchison in two of three falls in the semi-final. Von Schacht won the first and third falls while Etchison, one of the top challengers for the NWA heavyweight belt, copped only the second.

Billy Fox, who doubles as trainer of Gus, took the first fall in his match with Sumi War Cloud in 16:20. However, the Indian star came back to win the next two in 11:06 and 8:02.

Promoter Clete Kauffman announced last night that his next Mansfield wrestling show would be staged Friday, Aug. 12. Then he will not conduct a show until Sept. 3. The armory will be unavailable for the two-week period.

15-Game Schedule Faces Softball 9's

A skimpy schedule of 15 games faces Mansfield league softball teams this week.

The light schedule went on the books since eight Mansfield teams still remain in the district tournament which is running at Gorman-Rupp field.

Six teams are still unbeaten in second round play with Westinghouse's five wins in the National league topping the list. The Old Timers have copped four in the Recreation "slo-ball" loop while American Veterans Committee has four in the International circuit.

HIGHLIGHTS on SPORTS

By Brandenburg Chevrolet

Three-Crown Champ

Henry Armstrong, the beefy-necked Negro from the levee shanty towns of the Mississippi, became the first man in boxing history to hold 3 championship titles at one time. He was champion of the featherweights, champion of the welterweights, and in August 1938 won the lightweight decision in a 15 round bout with Lou Ambers at Madison Square Garden (N.Y.C.).

★

There was a crowd of 18,000 spectators, a large audience for a lightweight contest. Anguished moans were heard from the fans each time Armstrong landed a blow on Ambers and it seemed as if the crowd had came solely to root the white man on to victory. Ambers fought as brave a fight that night as he had ever fought in his entire ring career, but it was no use. He lost out by a narrow margin on a split decision by the judges, and Armstrong became the new lightweight champ. Ambers left the ring with the cheers of the fans ringing in his ears . . but the new champ was saluted with a steady stream of ripe red razzberries. Such is fame!

Law Unifies Natural Resources Activities

FISHERWOMEN—Mrs. John Doyle, 662 South Main street (left) and Miss Mary Bullinger, 415 Park avenue west, are shown with a nice catch of white bass and sheepheads taken from a pier at Huron. Lake Erie fishing has been good for the past two weeks and the girls took advantage of the fact.

Fish-fish-fish. More piscatorial prizes smelled up The News-Journal offices this week than any previous period this summer, but what a pleasant odor it was!

We had catfish, crappies and fishermen all over the place, and welcome visitors they were!

The results of their visits are scattered about the outdoors page just as proof that not all Ohio waters are barren of fish.

★

Nothing pleases this corner more than seeing the kids get a break (believe it or not, all of us on the N-J staff were at one time nothing but youngsters!) so we'll hereby go on record as backing the city contest for children Aug. 27, and backing it 100 percent.

With a month-long contest now running at Charles Mill, a special prize day at Charles Mill the 27th, and the city contest for the same day, fish promise to be in for a rough old time of it.

Proof that few things interest youngsters more than fishing can be found in examining the register for Wassem's contest. At the end of only three days, the registration book carried the names of 51 children, ranging in age from eight to 14.

The contest had scarcely started when three fish were entered, all crappies.

Things like that make any effort expended on behalf of the youth a pleasure instead of a chore.

Even though the weather is hot right now, there is plenty of cold weather work looming for James C. Tallmadge of the Tallmadge Pheasant farm, Ashland-Wayne county line.

Jim, a bird dog enthusiast, will be judging the American Brittany Futurity at Carbondale, Ill., on Oct. 21.

Later in the fall he will travel to Pittsburgh where he will judge the Pennsylvania Regional trials.

The pheasant raiser is also an ardent dog fan and owns two Brittany pups of his own. In addition, he has five beautiful setters, three of them young pups.

Faithful readers of the page will remember the stories we ran quite some time ago concerning Hunting and Fishing in Dixie. One of the articles passed along pertinent facts about the huge alligator gars of southern waters and how fishermen often hunt them with bows and arrows.

Now word comes along that the Louisiana Wildlife federation has just completed a gar roedo in which anything but dynamite was used to rid that state's waters of the predators. The gar is such a hungry critter he would soon rid waters of all other fish if he weren't kept well in hand. Even though they are controlled, the gars eat three times as many fish in Louisiana as are taken on rod and line. And those are game fish, not just rough fish.

Some fishermen who seine their own minnows have seen how cranes and herons will follow them down a creek to eat any wounded minnows, but one crane got himself into trouble this past week.

The bird in question was swiping minnows from a trot line set out by two boys from near Chillicothe and swallowed a hook.

The boys removed the hook and released the bird, a five-pounder with a wingspread of 72 inches.

Do outboard motors annoy fish or not? In Michigan officials are experimenting in an effort to determine the exact reactions of the finny creatures to motors. In three ponds the fish are given an overdose of motorboat sounds. Driverless boats are tied to a pole in the center of the pond and is sent round and round the pond 24 hours per day.

Nearby, but out of actual sound range are three other pools where fish remain undisturbed. The actions in each pool are noted and final results should answer this old question.

Just offhand we'd say the noise doesn't make too much difference but the vibrations do. As most fishermen have noticed, talking doesn't bother fish but a sudden sound which causes a vibration will scare them away from the area.

★

Ohio's wildfowl hunters are getting a break this year by having a longer season than last year. The open season on ducks, geese and coots will run from Oct. 21 to Nov. 29 with only one change in the bag limits. Only ten coot may be taken this year as against 15 last year.

The state season on rails and gallinules will be from Sept. 1 to Oct. 30, but during waterfowl season they cannot be hunted after one hour before sunset.

The woodcock season has been set for Oct. 8 to Nov. 6.

Improved conditions as shown at waterfowl meetings led to the longer season.

★

At last reports, the Senate was kicking around the bill which would make the price of a duck stamp $2 instead of the present $1. Backers of the bill claim the U. S. needs the money for producing more ducks for hunting and opponents claim the wildlife service has an unexpended balance of around $14,000,000.

Few sportsmen who like duck hunting would argue over the extra dollar. As a matter of fact, most would be more than glad to pay it if it would mean more ducks for the country.

However, if the wildlife service has the $14,000,000 plus congressional appropriations (exact figures unavailable right now) plus an anticipated revenue of $10,000,000 from taxes on the sale of hunting equipment — why can't that money be spent for more ducks and improved breeding grounds?

Knowing some of the red tape and restrictions involved in the use of federal funds for anything at all, my own suggestion is that each hunter who feels his extra dollar is needed should sent it to some organization such as Ducks Unlimited.

This group of sportsmen, including many Mansfielders, has done much toward bettering wildfowl hunting.

The word vanilla is from the Spanish, and means "little pod."

Operations Will Begin On Thursday

Director Given Broad Powers

Thursday will mark the beginning of a new era in Ohio conservation work with the unified Department of Natural Resources swinging into action.

The legislature, acting after several years of heated argument, made the unification possible this spring.

Considerable speculation has been aroused by the fact that the director of the new department has not as yet been named by Gov. Frank J. Lausche. The new director, regardless of who is chosen, will have the power to veto any action by the conservation commission which he so-desires.

This was one of the provisions of the unification bill which had sportsmen's organizations fighting among themselves.

Current rumors have it that A. W. Marion, state director of agriculture, will be moved into the post of director. Advising him will be a commission of eight, all but one appointed by the governor. The eighth member will be the dean of the Ohio State university college of agriculture.

Three main positions remain open at present, those of chief of land and soil division, parks division and the beach erosion division. All these appointments are to be made by the director of the Department of Natural Resources.

Speculation was also aroused concerning the possibility of H. A. "Buck" Rider being ousted as conservation commissioner.

As the situation stands at present, Rider is to be retained as in his present role and will change only his title. In the future he will be known as the wildlife chief.

Sportsmen's groups which fought the veto powers of the governor - appointed director of the new department won only one major concession before the bill was passed into law. They sought to have the present conservation commission retained as the wildlife council with powers to fix seasons and bag limits and succeeded in winning this point.

Under the new setup, all hunting and fishing license revenues can be used only for wildlife purposes.

Fisherman's Pants Stolen By Bear

BIG ARM, Mont. — (AP) — There's no accounting for bears' tastes so Louis Kis will take spare trousers on his next fishing trip. Camping at Hart Lake, near Superior, Kis had his pants snatched during the night by a bear. Fortunately, the fisherman wasn't in the trousers at the time but when the garment was found it was torn to shreds.

Fishing had to be suspended while the blanket-wrapped Kis was driven to Superior where he obtained a replacement.

Invaders Routed, But Odor Lingers

KEYSER, W. Va. — (AP) — This little city would like to know just what it has that attracts skunks — and then get rid of it.

Coming on the heels of a similar invasion, a squadron of five sightseeing skunks pushed into the downtown area the other night. There was consternation, and a call went out to Police Chief Claude Martin. Armed with a .22 caliber rifle and a flashlight, the Chief nimbly bagged three of the critters, routed the others. Unfortunately, long after the smoke of the battle cleared, the odor lingered.

U. N. To Hear Conservancy District Facts

The United Nations economic and social council will hear all about the Muskingum Conservancy District at its clinic and scientific conference on conservation and utilization of resources to be held late this month at Lake Success, N. Y.

Prof. J. D. Detwiler of the University of Western Ontario, Canada, has chosen the Conservancy District, which covers about one-fifth of the State of Ohio, as the only example in his report on "Protection of Fish and Wildlife in water Use Projects."

He points out that the District, which has 14 reservoirs, 10 of them permanent lakes, is the first project in which cooperation of the local, state and federal government has been attained and is the first flood control project in which fish and wildlife has been made a part of the Official Plan. He also declares that the vision and wise decision of the originators of the District has made the vast project a success.

Meanwhile concessionaires in the lakes were taking a breathing spell and getting prepared for the Labor Day and late season rush after scorching weather in late July kept the fish in deep water and fishing was below par.

When compared with the rest of Ohio's lakes, Charles Mill and Pleasant Hill ranked high this past week, some nice catches being reported from each.

Fishermen reported crappies were doing especially well while catfish ran a close second.

Bass failed to do much, remaining in deeper water.

20-POUNDER — Fred Ferrell, Rt. 2, Mansfield, and William Clark, 871 Ashland road (left) hit the jackpot on a trip to the Huron river this past week. The pair came back with three nice cats, the largest a 20-pound shovelhead. The other catfish were an eight-pound shovelhead and a three-pound channel cat. At left the big one is compared with the three-pounder, making it look like some of the minnows the local fishermen used for bait. Ferrell last year caught a catfish weighing 44 pounds from the same spot in the river.

BIG STURGEON LANCED

MOSCOW — (AP) — A sturgeon more than 13 feet long has been landed in the Capian near Baku. The fish weighed more than 1,130 pounds. It was brought to Moscow and went on sale in one of the local fish stores.

About 20,000,000 bushels of potatoes were used by the potato chip industry last season.

RODEO WARMUP — Charles Burkhart, 15, of 268 East Arch street, took a warmup for the Aug. 27 Mansfield Fishing Rodeo by making a pair of neat catches at Charles Mill dam this week. Charles and his dog, Tipper, camped out at the Richland County Fish and Game association cabin and for two nights in a row boated 50 crappies. He is shown above with the final night's catch. Crappies were hitting both live and dead minnows, he reported, and he claims he's through with daylight fishing. Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Burkhart. His father is president of the Richland Fish and Game association.

Youngsters' Fish Rodeo Set Aug. 27

Prizes Offered For Winners

Youngsters of Mansfield and vicinity will join with two million other boys and girls in striving to hook prize-winning fish on National Better Fishing Rodeo day, Aug. 27.

The fishing contest here will be sponsored by the Mansfield Lions club and will be open to youths between the ages of four and 16. The competition will be held at North Lake park and Liberty park lakes, which will be stocked with fish by the Ohio division of conservation.

Fish will be tagged with numbers, and each number will be awarded merchandise prizes donated by stores of the city and the Lions club. Special prizes will be given for the longest fish caught at each park on rodeo day.

Fishing will be done only with pole, line and hook. Tagged fish which escape the hooks on rodeo day can be caught by youngsters any time up to Sept. 30, with prizes given until that date

Complete rules and entry blank will appear in the News-Journal on Aug. 21.

Clay floor and wall tiles are manufactured in sizes ranging from "dots" 11-32-inch square to 12-inch squares.

Wins Leniency By Surrender

AKRON — (AP) — Having cleared his conscience, Bert Bender, 63, can go free by paying the county the money it spent on his family.

He came into common pleas court yesterday and said that in "corn cutting time" of 1938 he had walked away from a workhouse sentence. He declared his conscience had been bothering him.

Old records showed that Bender, who lived in the village of Warwick, had been sentenced to one year for non-support of his wife and seven children. He was sent to Stark county workhouse because Summit county lacked one. When he walked out of the corn field, he had six months to go.

Taxes This Year Take Dollar For Every $4.10 In Earnings of Average American

WASHINGTON —(AP)— This year the average American is paying out $1 in federal, state and local taxes for every $4.10 he earns.

Roughly that means that every time he earns a dollar he turns over 25 cents to a tax agent.

This estimate, by Senator Byrd (D.-Va.) is making fighting words behind the scenes in Washington.

ing of economy by this Congress,

Sixty-two senators, despair- have proposed that federal expenses be cut 10 per cent by the President.

These senators are uncertain how the House of Representatives will react to their plan. They say the real issue is "easy money" — that is, congressmen are willing to vote money to please certain groups of citizens without any regard for the overall solvency of the national government. Needless to say, the senators who makes these remarks refuse to be quoted by name.

The battle over government spending has become stiff enough that the President went on the radio to explain his last economic report. This was the first time he had done so since the economic reports started in January 1947.

The President said he thought the answer to Uncle Sam's fiscal worries was more spending.

He advocated more spending by private employers, who he said should "take advantage now of new business opportunities."

He said that government should "direct its policies toward continued economic expansion." He suggested several programs which would take more government spending, such as wider social security programs, more money for education, health and housing, more money for preservation of national resources.

Mr. Truman's major opponent in Congress is a member of his own party — Senator Byrd. Byrd's small staff almost duplicated the work of the entire budget bureau in preparation for his last Senate talk on government finance.

It was Byrd's staff that figured out the average of $1 in taxes for every $4 10 earned. On this job it had the help of the treasury, the budget bureau and the commerce department.

COMPARES COSTS

Byrd's report compared tax costs in 1941 and 1949. Here is what his staff found.

In 1941 the tax bill to Uncle Sam alone was $7,250,000,000 The year after the war that had jumped to $36,500,000,000. If the President's program went through, Byrd said, the bill would be $43,000,000,000, and the average for federal, state and local taxes would be $1 for approximately $3.50 earned.

Taxes to Uncle Sam — never mind taxes to state and city — have jumped more than five times since the state of the war

Can we afford it? That depends, according to Byrd, on what we are turning out in the way of work.

The President's report says we were turning it out only twice as fast in the spring of this year as we did in spring of 1941 — at an annual rate of $250 000,000,000 Compared to $125,000,000,000 in 1941.

So five times as much taxes have to be taken out of only twice as much work

But the work record isn't holding up Our peak was in the last half of 1948, when we turned out goods worth $262,700 000,000 Senator Byrd points out when we turn out less goods as a people we have less taxes to pay and Uncle Sam collects less

So for the last half year Uncle Sam has had to face lower taxes although Congress, under the administration's drive, has been planning to spend more

Orthodox economists, the world over, say national debt should drop in periods of high employment. The U. S. is in such a period, but government figures show that the government debt has hung dead center since early this year — around $252,000,000,000. It dropped some after the war, but now it sticks.

Here's how the Byrd researchers estimated what some of the President's proposals would mean:

Education — the President asked $414,000,000 for education and research. This is almost seven times the expenditures in 1941, and that doesn't include the government expenses for educating GI's after the war.

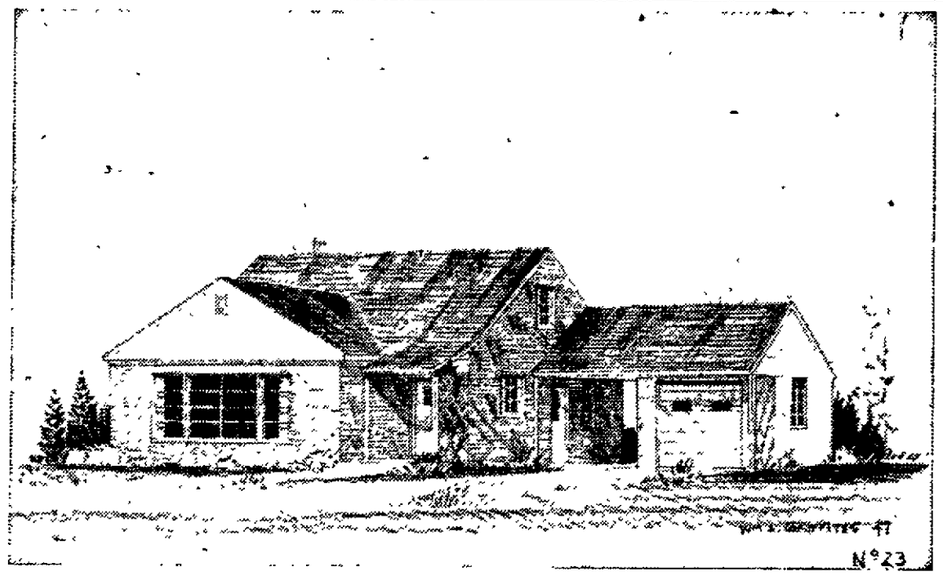
Natural resources — The President asked $1,900,000,000 for preservation of natural resources. It is more than five times the 1941 account.

Controls and promotion of finance industry — the President asked $107,000,000. This is 33 times greater than the same bill for 1941.

There is still no estimate of the amount Congress may decide to spend on arming western Europe.

NEWS REALLY HOT

PONCA CITY, Okla — (AP) — There really was a lot of hot news. . . . Neighbors called firemen to the residence of Ed Nichols when they spotted smoke pouring from the kitchen. The firemen rushed in to find the smoke coming from the stove, where Nichols was drying his rain soaked newspaper.



Small Home Design Number 23

House Built On Cape Cod Cottage Lines

This little semi-Cape Cod home is only 24 feet wide and could go on a very narrow lot, although the addition of the suggested garage and breezeway as shown here would require additional footage.

The architect designed this home to be built of a combination brick and horizontal wood siding, although it could be finished in all wood or cinder block and wood siding. The horizontal lines in the picture windows add a look of breadth to make the house appear much wider than it really is.

The front entrance is covered by a roof with a trellis on one side which, when properly landscaped would look exceedingly attractive.

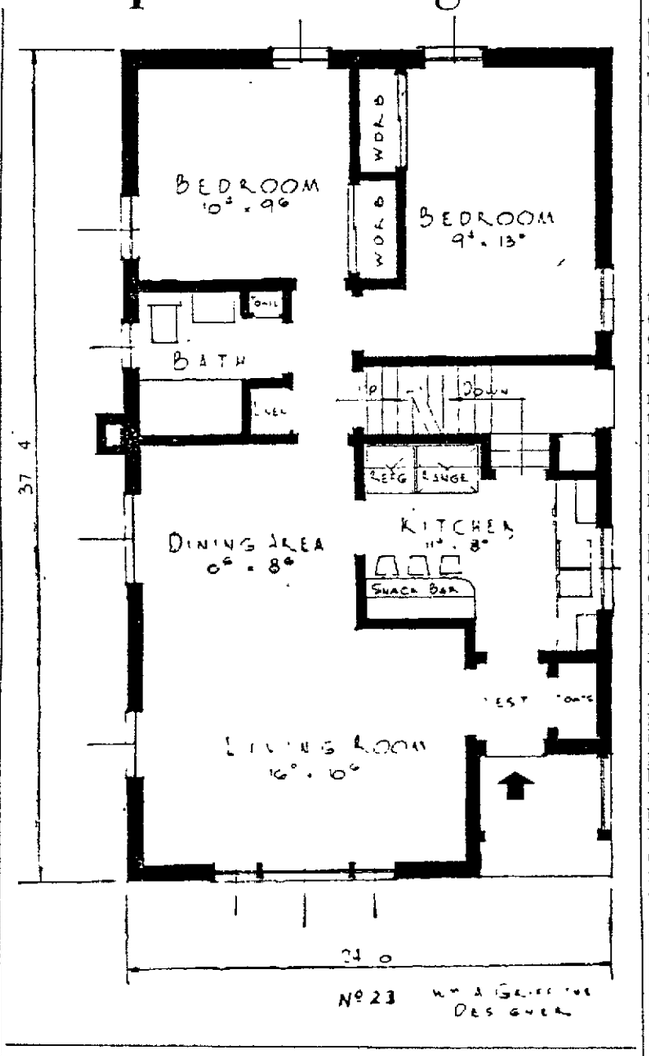
As you enter the home through the front door there is a hall closet on the right and another door leading directly into the kitchen, or by turning to the left you enter the living room which is 16' x 10' 6". This living room is combined with a dining arrangement which is 10 6" x 8' 6", and the open planning of these two rooms makes them look quite pretentious. There is a large picture window along the front of the home and two more picture windows on the side of the dining-living room which makes this entire area exceptionally light and cheerful.

You go directly from this area into the kitchen or to the bath and two downstairs bedrooms The kitchen is exceptionally large for this small home and has a picture window over the sink, counter space on both sides and even room for a small snack bar along one wall. The front door is easily accessible from the work centers which saves the busy housewife many steps. As you leave the dining area for the bath and bedrooms you pass a linen closet The bathroom is large and also contains a small closet for the storage of towels.

The two bedrooms have cross ventilation and both have large wardrobe closets with sliding doors This type of door saves the space usually occupied by the old style swinging door and allows more space in a smaller bedroom for furniture

The upstairs of this house could remain unfinished if less space were not needed at the time the house was built, but there is room upstairs for two large bedrooms and bath, together with extra storage space

The service entrance leads directly to the basement stairs and to the kitchen The basement is constructed under the entire house and provides ample space for recreation room, laundry and heater room.



Complete building plans may be obtained by sending check or money order in the amount of $5.00 for the first set of plans and $2.50 for each additional set ordered at the same time to the Scale Model Home Planning Co., 819 Lafayette Bldg., Detroit 26, Michigan Be sure to specify design number when ordering plans.

The federal-state crop reporting service estimates that the gross income from meat animals in Tennessee reached an all-time high of $165,259,000 in 1948.

Bathtub Now Serving as Speedboat

CARLSTADT, N. J. —(AP)—A 61-year-old former speedboat builder chugs happily along the Hackensack river these hot days—in a bathtub.

Emil Meyer, its owner, driver and designer, said the tub is one which Sears, Roebuck and company gave away 50 years ago to anyone who sold $10 worth of the firm's soap.

The galvanized tin bathtub is mounted on two boards supported by two balsa pontoons. It is powered by a 2½-horsepower outboard motor. The board supporting the outboard supplants the usual faucets.

The "special" goes no faster than a rowed boat. The pontoons keep the tub steady and steerable. The navigator-bather must squat in the tub or else use a slanting board as a seat.

Expert Care Needed To Revive Muscles

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—(AP)—When your child gets polio—infantile paralysis—his fate passes out of your hands.

All you can do is to turn him over to specialists, doctors and nurses, and there are not many of these specialists in the entire United States.

That's where the dimes you and the children gave last winter come to your aid. They produced more than $20,000,000 now ready to do the incredible medical job of making this scarce aid ready everywhere.

Your community has a local chapter of the National foundation for Infantile Paralysis, one of 2,800 in the United States.

Call the community or nearest National Foundation office. They have plans ready. For those unable to pay the full expenses, the Foundation expects to pay the balance. And this is a lot of money, about $1,000 being an average expense for a single case. Some run far higher.

The foundation undertakes to find a hospital where this care can be given. Many hospitals have neither the equipment nor the experienced personnel.

Where cases are numerous, the foundation maintains teams of expert doctors and nurses to go to that area and train nurses and advise local doctors. These teams are top men in polio, in the leading medical institutions of the United States.

The foundation last winter took in $25,000,000 in the march of dimes. Half this went to the local chapters, and half to the national foundation. Deducting the expenses, there is about twenty million dollars left for polio aid and for research.

In last summer's epidemic the National Foundation spent about $4,000,000 more than it received in dimes money.

Some things which the experts will do can later be done at home by you. That will be in the cases where it takes years of training stricken muscles.

Where children are unable to move a muscle, nurses or parents or apparatus built for the purpose does this exercise. Someday the weakened muscles get able to do some of their own work. Results sometimes look like miracles The reasons are intricate, but there is little guesswork.

Bulbar polio, the kind that comes from damage to the "bulb" at the top of the spinal cord, has lost some of its death-dealing power. Bulbar kills in several ways. It may paralyze swallowing muscles, or breathing muscles or interfere with heart action. In the swallowing trouble, the child chokes to death. Opening the windpipe saves most of these, and that was discovered only two years ago. Iron lungs keep them alive in the breathing paralysis and pure oxygen helps tide over the heart crises.

The doctors may give myanesin of priscol to relieve pain, but not because they think there is any curative effect.

They use curare to loosen muscles that insist on tying themselves into knots. They have tried new remedies like darvisul and gureomycin. There are swimming pools, rocking beds and other devices for mild exercises.

New Drugs, Ideas Will Aid Hay Fever Victims

NEW YORK — (AP) — The shotguns of the hay fever season start firing soon, but there are some new drugs and ideas to aid the victims.

The shotguns are the pods of ragweed. They discharge their pollen in sudden slugs or bursts. A single pod may send out a million grains of pollen. The shooting starts in August and keeps on through September or October. During a season, it's estimated, the weeds broadcast 1,000,000 tons of pollen

The tiny pollen grains (2,500 equal one inch) soar on the breeze and spread misery. Ragweed is the main bane of some 7,000,000 hay fever sufferers in the United States.

One counter attack opened with the use of the weed-killer 2,4-D. Many cities and towns are spraying vacant lots and other favorite abodes of ragweed each June and July. The sprayings have killed off large areas of ragweed.

Public health engineers are tackling the problem, too, using engineering skills to set up defenses against the pollen barrages.

Winds carry the pollen for miles, but there's a suspicion that the plants right in your own neighborhood are often the main troublemakers, says C. J. Velz, head of the civil engineering department, Manhattan college.

Pollen counts as high as 10 million grains to the cubic yeard have been measured in the middle of ragweed patches. A count of 100 to the yard is generally thought to be enough to start most susceptible people sneezing.

But counting stations may be placed too far away from local patches of weeds to pick up the broadcast for them. Wind-borne pollens may thus sometimes be blamed for the suffering when the victims actually sniffed heavy loads from their own backyards, Velz told the northeastern states weed control conference.

Meanwhile, chemists have produced more than a dozen new drugs that help relieve the distress of hay fever. Most of them combat histamine, a substance released in the body body and believed to be a main cuase of allergies. Some of the latest drugs give long-lasting protection

No drug relieves every hay fever victim. And they often cause sleepiness, nausea, hives or other effects A different drug may work well for one person, but not another. The choice of drug, and the dose, should be directed by a doctor. Physicians also can give injections of pollen extracts to help build up resistance.

The mind and emotions often affect allergies, making the attacks worse, or perhaps even starting them. A picture of ragweed may start some people sneezing.

Since the psychic effect can be strong, some psychologists use hypnotism on hay fever victims, Hypnotism is suggestion, and giving the suggestion to relax helps remove emotional tension, the psychologists explain. People can be given the suggestion that they won't be bothered as much or at all by pollens or dust.

Some people have another answer to hay fever. They run away from ragweed areas. They find relief -- unless some overlooked weed lets go with its charge of sneeze pellets.

Buys English Manor

LOUTH, England — (AP) — "I used to think how I'd like to own it," said 64-year-old John Holmes. So he plunked down close to $400,000 for 30-bedroom Grisby Manor and part of the nearby village of Burgh on Bain (population 161.) Now a wealthy timber merchant. Holmes used to work at the manor for nothing but his keep when he was a carpenter's apprentice in his teens 50 years ago.

Russian Books Old

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — New Russian books are rarer than old ones, says Dimitry Krassossky, Slavic consultant for the University of California at Los Angeles library. Complete bibliographies of Russian publications may not be exported from Russia and finding new Russian books is a hit or miss proposition, he says. One kind of Russian publication is plentiful, he finds — that is propaganda pamphlets.

There are more than a score of medicines being used on animals, with hopeful effects, and two vaccines, again for animals. Whether any of these will work for human beings is unknown.

The best and only remedies go under the broad name of physiotherapy, which means long, patient, understanding and affectionate care and painstaking direction in teaching stricken muscles to make a comeback.

Test House Built By Federal Rent Director As 'Guinea Pig'

(Editor's Note: A picture of the house described in the following article was published on the Sunday News-Journal building page last week. Mansfielder builders quickly responded that they could, and do, beat the square foot price. A more complete description of the Tighe Woods house is presented today, with reaction of the nation's builders.)

★

Federal Rent Director Tighe Woods has built a "guinea pig" house to show people what they can get for their money, and everybody is happy about it.

Woods is happy because, he says, "I want to show builders that a house can be built at a profit in the field I think we have to reach — the $6,800 house."

Home builders are happy because they think the Woods house "is not a house" — that they are doing better, dollar for dollar, all over the country.

Home buyers are happy because now they have a yardstick to gauge values in almost any locality.

The joker is that a Woods house cannot be built in many communities because of zoning and building codes. The house covers only 570 square feet and in many places houses with areas of 700 or more square feet are outlawed as too small.

But the Woods house is interesting in many ways. "It's a nice cabin for a young couple at the shore or some other vacation spot," said Frank Cortright, executive vice-president of the National Association of Home Builders.

It stands on a concrete slab extending below the frost line, which is now an acceptable foundation for economy houses. Exterior walls are covered with tongue and groove redwood siding. Interior walls are paneled with plywood. Both rockwool and metal foil insulation are used in the walls. Roof trusses are left exposed and painted and the roof is covered with asbestos composition board on which asphalt shingles are laid.

An outside brick chimney, lined with terracotta, serves a brick fireplace in the living room. Glass radiant heating is used. This consists of four glass grids in the walls, heated by electricity to warm the air by infra-red rays. It cost about $200 installed.

Concrete floors are covered with asphalt tile.

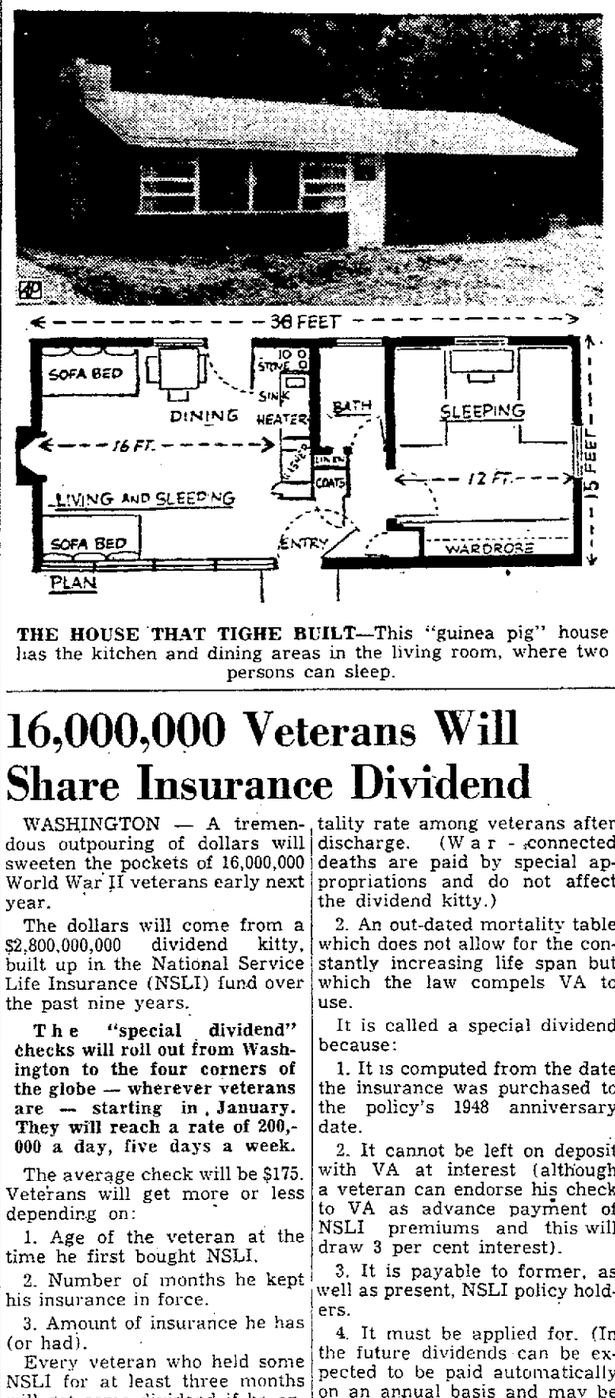
Kitchen equipment — in one end of the living room — includes a four-plate electric range, stainless steel sink, an electric washing machine, electric hot water heater and steel storage cabinets. The kitchen area can be closed off with a heavy curtain. The bathroom is complete with a shower above the tub. A small attic storage space, reached by stepladder, is provided above the bathroom and kitchen area.

Two coat closets, a linen closet, a broom closet and a 12-foot long wardrobe in the bedroom are provided in the plan.

When the Army asked Congress for funds to build homes for service families at $6,500 per house in this country and up to $46,000 in Alaska and other parts of the world, Woods announced his "guinea pig" house.

He built it for $5,900 and with a half-acre lot could price it at $6,750, complete with the equipment described. It stands in Virginia, near the Army's Fort Belvoir, 17 miles from Washington. Richard Barr was the architect. Julian R. Sedwick, ex-seabee and contractor, used local labor to build it.

But the building cost did not impress speculative home builders. Carl G. Lans, technical director for the National Association of Home Builders, compared Woods cost of $11 per square foot with that of a Washington builder now erecting three-bedroom houses at $9.40 per square foot.



THE HOUSE THAT TIGHE BUILT—This "guinea pig" house has the kitchen and dining areas in the living room, where two persons can sleep.

16,000,000 Veterans Will Share Insurance Dividend

WASHINGTON — A tremendous outpouring of dollars will sweeten the pockets of 16,000,000 World War II veterans early next year.

The dollars will come from a $2,800,000,000 dividend kitty, built up in the National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) fund over the past nine years.

The "special dividend" checks will roll out from Washington to the four corners of the globe — wherever veterans are — starting in January. They will reach a rate of 200,000 a day, five days a week.

The average check will be $175. Veterans will get more or less depending on:

1. Age of the veteran at the time he first bought NSLI.

2. Number of months he kept his insurance in force.

3. Amount of insurance he has (or had).

Every veteran who held some NSLI for at least three months will get some dividend if he applies for it.

If it highly probably some veterans never will apply, either because they don't want to or because they won't hear about it. However, the Veterans Administration (VA) will do its best to see that dividend information is sifted into every nook and cranny of the U. S. and abroad (in cooperation with the State Department) through the press, radio, veterans' organizations, post offices, Red Cross and countless other media.

Within a few weeks application blanks will be sent to every U. S. post office and other convenient distribution points. Veterans will fill out their forms and mail direct to VA's central office in Washington in self-addressed envelopes.

A receipt will be mailed back to the veteran at the address he supplies on the form. He then waits for payment.

VA estimates it will take six months to complete payment of dividends. It might be done quicker.

This special dividend is the result of two factors:

1. A lower-than-expected mortality rate among veterans after discharge. (War-connected deaths are paid by special appropriations and do not affect the dividend kitty.)

2. An out-dated mortality table which does not allow for the constantly increasing life span but which the law compels VA to use.

It is called a special dividend because:

1. It is computed from the date the insurance was purchased to the policy's 1948 anniversary date.

2. It cannot be left on deposit with VA at interest (although a veteran can endorse his check to VA as advance payment of NSLI premiums and this will draw 3 per cent interest).

3. It is payable to former, as well as present, NSLI policy holders.

4. It must be applied for. (In the future dividends can be expected to be paid automatically on an annual basis and may be left with VA at interest also automatically.)

5 Beneficiaries or heirs of deceased veterans are eligible to collect the deceased's dividend, regardless of whether the policy was inforce at the time the veteran died. But they need not apply for it. It is to be paid to them automatically.

Australia Gains In Population

CANBERRA — (AP) — Australia added 48,000 people to her population by immigration in 1948.

Government figures show that 65,731 persons came to Australia during the year with the idea of living here permanently. In 1948, however, 17,000 people left Australia planning to be away one year or longer. These 17,000 people are counted as losses to Australia.

Cathedral Has African Art

BRAZZAVILLE French Equatorial Africa — (AP) — One of the boldest experiments in amalgamating African art into Christian churches and liturgy is at present being carried out in Brazzaville. Fr. R. Lecomte said the new Brazzaville cathedral now under construction would contain new features directly drawn from African art.

The tom-tom which for thousand of years has served the Bantus as a means of communication and a dance instrument will enter the cathedral as a sacred instrument and rhythm the chants and prayers. Railings of the tribune and choir will be made in wrought iron by an old blacksmith of the M'Beti tribe.

The interior decoration will also be carried out in special form unknown in modern times and which can only be found in old Assyrian temples. Huge panels will represent scenes of the Bible in pieces of ceramic. The design of these Biblical scenes will be exclusively African.

Reds Boast Mutual Aid Plan Works

Claim Trade Has Increased

MOSCOW — (AP) — New Times says the economic council of mutual and (ECMA) has greatly increased trade among member countries.

The Soviet foreign affairs weekly said in a recent article new successes have been attained "in the development of economic ties between the nations of central and southeastern Europe."

ECMA was established about six months ago. Members of the organization include the Soviet Union, Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Albania.

(ECMA was developed among Soviet satellites after the European recovery plan of the United States was introduced.)

New Times said the social systems of the Soviet Union and the other members of ECMA exclude the possibility of the "beginning of economic inequality or political pressure."

According to the publication 35 to 80 per cent of the foreign trade of each individual nation is with the other members of the ECMA, while in 1937 such trade constituted only from 10 to 18 per cent.

This, the publication said, is accomplished by the "leading role of the Soviet Union which firmly occupies first place in the imports and exports of the countries of the peoples' democracy (communist regimes)."

An overwhelming advantage of trade with the Soviet Union, New Times said, is the fact that it requires no dollars.

The publication also said the Soviet Union was selling goods to eastern European nations at less than world market prices. Czechoslovakia alone reportedly has economized by 1,350,000,000 crowns, or $27,000,000 on a 600,000-ton grain purchase.

Bulgarian-Soviet trade in 1949 was frozen at 1948 levels. New Times said this was of great advantage to Bulgaria since prices on the world market of Bulgarian exports fell while those of many commodities sent to Bulgaria from the Soviet Union had risen.

New Times said trade between Romania and the Soviet Union has increased 150 per cent in 1949 compared with 1948, and that other nations have had the following increase in trade with Russia: Czechoslovakia, 45 per cent; Bulgaria, 20 per cent not including equipment sent on credit, and Hungary, 100 per cent.

Further, the trade of various nations of eastern Europe with each other increased greatly as their trade with the Soviet Union rose, New Times said. Mutual technical help was a highly important phase of their economic cooperation among themselves and with Russia.

The Soviet Union, the publication said, is engaged in supplying industrial and agricultural equipment as well as raw materials to eastern European countries.

Poland was said to be receiving steel equipment on credit from Russia sufficient to double her steel output. A Polish newspaper was quoted as saying that Russia is sending Poland equipment sufficient to add 500,000 kilowatts of power generating capacity and to increase cement production by 300,000 tons a year.

NOBODY WINS

BRUSSELS — (AP) — This Belgian city with its thousands of autos, bicycles and trucks sees plenty of accidents these days. A recent street incident, however, had even the hardened police force shaking their heads sadly. This time it was four autos fighting for "lebensraum" in Waterloo Boulevard. The result was that all four ended up ready for the scrap heap and one driver retired from the fray with minor bruises.

Big Job Begins Each Time Ocean Liner Reaches U. S.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Imagine you had the job of making sure a crowded, 20-story hotel contained no prohibited people, goods or germs.

How would you go about it?

Uncle Sam tackles this job every time a big ocean liner sails into New York. Here's how he does it.

Ships the size of the Queen Elizabeth, which carries about 2,300 passengers and 1,200 crew members, are boarded by health service, customs and immigrations officers in the narrows of New York harbor. The complicated process begins a few moments later in the purser's cabin, where the master of the Elizabeth raises his right arm and swears to the accuracy of the ship's manifest.

Before the last person or suitcase is officially admitted to the United States they will have run the gamut of health, customs and immigration officers. All these men, besides having a detailed specialized knowledge of intricate laws, are good amateur psychologists and many can recognize a Paris hat or a Bond street tweed in just a glance.

The first man to board the ship in the narrows is the chief health officer. The medical and immigration men do most of their work while the ship is moving up the bay. The customs officers get busiest after she has tied up.

For the various examinations, the passengers line up in the lounges and salons. Citizens generally are taken first. The crew is examined separately.

Big ships like the Elizabeth usually are given "radio pratique." This means that the ship's doctor, while en route has radioed ahead that there are no contagious diseases abroad. The vessel is given permission to move up the harbor without delay at quarantine.

Ten health officers go over the ship making sure she is properly deratted and otherwise sanitary. Then they take on the passengers. Returning citizens are simply required to show immunization papers. In coming from Europe these days, they must have shots against small pox. From Asia they need injections against yellow fever and cholera.

Liquor Ads Face Taboos

NEW YORK — (AP) — Taboos against many forms of liquor advertising are getting a thorough sifting these days as distillers step up their race for customers.

Such taboos, for example, as one state's ruling that small dogs like terriers may not be shown in liquor ads, but big dogs like Mastiffs and St. Bernards are okay. The reasoning apparently was that children's attention might be attracted more by the little dogs than the big ones.

With more and more post-war aged whiskey becoming available, and competition for the consumer's dollar increasing sharply, the alcoholic beverage makers are searching for ways to intensify and broaden their ad campaigns.

But they're finding the going rough. Because ever since shortly after the end of prohibition, advertising of liquor has been more carefully regulated than that of any other product group.

For years there have been taboos against using women or children in hard liquor ads. The American flag cannot be used, or any implied reference to the armed services, or religious symbols, or anything symbolic of religious holidays.

Until a few weeks ago, when a major firm broke the tradition, liquor ads had appeared in Sunday papers only in isolated instances. Most distillers believed such advertising should not go into the home on Sunday.

A HOUSE SHOULD BE BUILT STRONG

— strong enough to withstand hurricanes, floods and tornadoes. Homes built of Homasote have stood up under all such conditions.

The Big Sheets of Homasote literally "weld" the many individual pieces of the frame construction into one solid unit. The walls act as beams. Even a settling of the ground does not cause cracks.

As the chart indicates, Homasote Big Sheets afford far greater strength with a minimum of lateral displacement, even under maximum stress. This chart is based on tests made by the Research Laboratory, Department of Civil Engineering, Columbia University.

Communists Missing In Unity Move

Meeting Called By Europeans

STRASBOURG, France — (AP) — Western Europe's top political leaders meet here Monday (Aug. 8) to try and make a five-century dream of union come true.

Its sponsors hope this inaugural session of the Council of Europe will be a long step toward a real United States of Europe.

For the first time in history, a permanent committee of ministers and a consultative assembly will unite Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands, Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Ireland and Luxembourg. Greece and Turkey probably will be added almost at once.

The council can not bind any of its member countries. It only gives advice. It is barred from even discussing military matters. Just the same, its debates and recommendations will be heard with respect.

Winston Churchill is expected to be the star orator. In addition, the delegates will have a chance to enjoy the hospitality of a town that has not had time to get bored with international parleys and has ambitions to become the capital of Europe. The hospitality includes some of the fanciest food — and fanciest prices — in France, which is saying a good deal.

This German-speaking French city, about the size of Richmond, Va., has been fought over by the two peoples for a big part of its 2,000-year history. The last war destroyed several of its hotels and historic monuments. There are plenty of monuments still but the hotel shortage is serious and there is no surplus of space for Europe's new international civil service.

The committee of ministers will be the first to gather at Strasbourg's ornate city hall. It consists of the foreign ministers of each member country, meeting in secret unless they should decide otherwise— which is unlikely.

They will have some tricky questions to mull over. To begin with, are they to have the right to speak and vote at the consultative assembly, as European governments do in their parliaments, — or is there to be a separation of powers, as in the U. S.? And what about the new west German state — can it become a member?

After a week the committee will adjourn.

On Wednesday (Aug. 10) the consultative assembly convenes in the great hall of the University of Strasbourg for a month's session. By meeting in the summer, when most European parliaments are on vacation, the parliaments can elect some of their own members to be delegates to the assembly as well.

The assembly is to have 87 members, apportioned roughly— very roughly — on a population basis, in this way:

United Kingdom, France and Italy, 18 each; Belgium, Sweden and the Netherlands, six each; Denmark, Ireland and Norway, four each, and Luxembourg three.

On a strict proportional basis, if the big three got 18 members, the next biggest country — the Netherlands — would rate only five and the others even fewer.

Each delegate can vote as he pleases. This provision promises to furnish some new quirks in the history of international meetings. Up to now they have always been organized on the system of one country, one vote as in the United Nations

The main parties in each of the countries will be well represented, except the communists. They consider the whole thing a plot against the Soviet Union. In France, the national assembly barred them by deciding that delegates would be elected by an absolute majority. The French communists are the biggest party in the assembly, but they have no majority.

However, plenty of British Tories, French Socialists, Italian Catholics, Belgian Liberals, Dutch Protestants and Irish opponents of partition are on hand to spice the political pie.

Explosive New Personality Appears In Middle East

DAMASCUS — (AP) — An explosive new personality has appeared in the middle east: Husni el Zaim, dictator-president of Syria.

Already his ambitious reform program has brought comparisons to the late Kemal Ataturk, the poker-playing dictator-president who between 1923 and 1938 turned Turkey from a backward nation into a modern power.

Zaim, a stocky, aggressive soldier, still has a long way to go before he will rate with Ataturk. But since he emerged from a lifetime of army obscurity and seized power last March 30, he has come a long way.

From the day he grabbed the reins, Zaim has pressed reforms.

He introduced price control into this inflation-ridden country. Merchants who ignored regulations were publicly whipped. Prices skidded downward. Violations stopped.

Taxes were raised. Previously the country had been run by a few big families; remnants of the old feudal days, who kept taxes low. Family trusts (wakfs) were broken up and large amounts of property freed for redistribution.

Political parties were broken up - apparently a step toward supressing any possible challenges to Zaim's new power. A six-man commission was appointed to frame a new constitution. Until it comes into effect Zaim is ruling by decree.

Sixty of Damascus' 75 newspapers were shut down. The others are pro-Zaim. Although this was a blow to a free press, Zaim had one argument on his side: many of Damascus papers had been fly-by-night sheets existing on the slippery edge of blackmail.

Zaim announced a five-year plan. It includes a new port at Lattaquieh, dams across the historic Euphrates and Orontes rivers, and a drainage program for a large northern Syria area between Lattaquieh and Aleppo. Water for large-scale new irrigation projects would be provided by the dams.

Zaim also has achieved good relations with western interests. He quickly concluded agreements with the Trans-Arabian Pipe Line company, expediting the new pipeline across Syria from Arabia; the Anglo-Iranian Oil company and the French government.

Zaim won followers among the peasants and laborers with new laws protecting labor. He ordered a drastic crackdown on crime

His program of internal reforms has carried over to his own life. For the first time in Syria's history, her chief executive appears at official ceremonies without the traditional "tarbush," the red fez-like headdress of tradition.

Taking the hint, a number of Moslem women have abandoned their veils since he took power. Emancipated women now are confident they will be protected from fanatic religious teachers and reactionary parents.

APARTMENT MOVIES

MOSCOW — (AP) — Apartment houses with a movie theater on the first floor have been started here. The first one, located on the Mozhaisk Highway, has already opened. An official decision has been made to open 18 of these apartment house-movie theaters.

Buffalos Start On Long Journey

BANGKOK — (AP) — The great water buffalo trek is underway again in Siam. Tens of thousands of buffalo are being driven from breeding farms in the northeast provinces across more than 300 miles of jungles and plains to the central provinces. There the buffalo are sold for plowing and other ground preparations for planting of the rice crop.

It takes about two months for the buffaloes to make the annual push. When they reach the central plains they are shoved about from one spot to another until most are sold.

Construction Plan Solves Rental Problem

Basement's 'Home' While Family Builds

By BILL HERRING

The basement of a bungalow-under-construction on Walker Lake road, Mansfield, R. D. 3, is "home" to a returned Richland county GI and his family.

Joseph Herman, a trimmer at the Art Rattan Works, Inc., in Mansfield, is the home-minded veteran who has been living in the waterproofed basement since last September. The other occupants are his wife, Mary, and his 3-year-old son, Rex.

Herman purchased a three and one-half acre plot of ground on Walker Lake road when he bumped into the housing shortage problem on returning to Mansfield after four years of war service in New Guinea.

A contractor was employed to scoop out the basement site. From that point on, it was a family affair. Herman devoted his spare time to the project. Mrs. Herman also played a major role. She stained the beams, carried blocks and mixed mortar to assist her husband.

The basement was tiled, and the walls were waterproofed inside and out. When it was completed, the family waved goodbye to housing problems and moved in.

Drapes are temporary partitions marking off the living room, kitchen, bedroom and child's bedroom in the 24-by-28 foot basement. Electricity has been wired in and bottled gas is used for cooking. A deep well provides water and a coal burning furnace affords cool season heating.

Diagonal wood sub flooring for the first floor of the completed house furnished the basement with its ceiling. Steel beams and jack posts provide support safety.

The Hermans were married May 10, 1941 two weeks before Joseph entered the service. During the war Mary worked in a Mansfield drug store. They resumed housekeeping in a Mansfield apartment upon his discharge in 1945. A series of moves resulted in their Walker Lake road property purchase.

Since the bungalow hasn't started to rise above the basement level, Mary is altering original building plans. She intends adding a dinette to the kitchen and wants a pump room with shelves to hold winter food supplies and canned goods. The Hermans plan a garage with a wedgeway connecting it to the house.

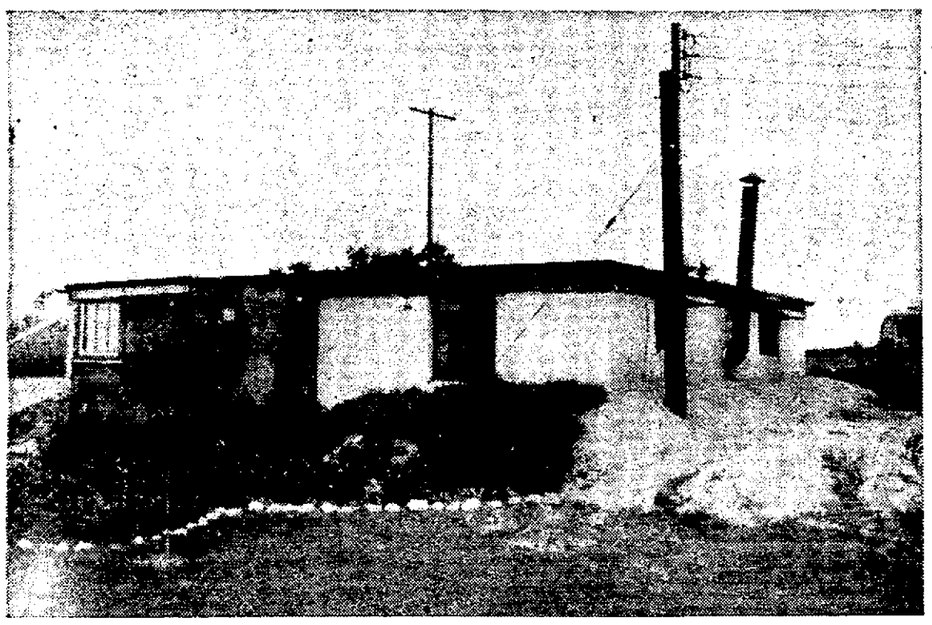
The high cost of lumber has slowed their construction pace.

"It costs $40 for enough lumber to partition one basement room," Mary complained. "We're working on a pay day to pay day basis so prices will have to drop before we can meet our hoped-for completion date two years hence."

There are fruit trees on the Herman property and Mary envisions much canning activity. A large garden provides the family with fresh vegetables.

"We're quite cozy here," Mrs. Herman remarked. "Through our efforts telephone service has been extended to this neighborhood and within the last month we secured delivery of the Mansfield News-Journal. We are far from being classified as rural cousins. U. S. Route 30N is only a mile to the south of us."

Landscaping is planned as soon as the bungalow is erected. Mrs. Herman has two flower beds decorating her basement home lawn. In addition the Hermans raise chickens, rabbits and geese.



UNFINISHED, BUT SNUG—This tiled and wat erproofed basement on Walker Lake road, Mansfield, R. D. 3, is home for a returned GI and his family. It has been drape-partitioned off into rooms, wired for electricity, has a deep well and coal-heating furnace. Joseph Herman, the owner-contractor, estimates it will require two years to complete the bungalow. One of Mrs. Herman's flower beds is shown on the slope near the doorway.

Family Reaches End of Long Voyage In 46-Foot Schooner

BEAVER, Pa. — (AP) — Frank Potter has ended his long voyage home — 6,000 miles by sea and river in a two-masted 46-foot schooner.

It was 11 months ago that Potter saw the schooner tied-up at a Long Island dock, a "for sale" sign hanging amidships.

Potter bought her, named her the "Seven Seas" and sailed her up to Boston. There he quit his job as a sales engineer, packed up his wife and four children and set sail for his boyhood home in Beaver overlooking the Ohio river.

To get there the Potters followed the Atlantic coast around Florida, across the Gulf of Mexico and up the Mississippi and Ohio rivers.

When the "Seven Seas" dropped anchor here the children —Jane, 10; Nancy, 12, Frank 7, and Ross, 2, went ashore to visit their grandparents.

But Potter and his wife stayed aboard to ready the schooner for its last junket with Potter at the helm.

Saturday they sailed for Pittsburgh to officially end their trip and then they sail back up the Ohio to Beaver and put the "Seven Seas" up for sale.

"That's the hardest part of all," Potter said.

"But," he added, "dreams have to end sometime and now we expect to settle down and buy a home and I'll have to hunt a job."

70 Area Guardsmen to Leave Sunday for Camp

'Y' Building Renovation Completed

Rehabilitation Fund Assures Projects

A. B. Grafton president of the board of the Mansfield YMCA, announced yesterday that the Y's rehabilitation program has been completed.

"A summary report of expenditures will be mailed next week to the 91 donors to the 1948 rehabilitation fund," Grafton said. "The drive for funds netted $1,489.13 last year to be used in placing the building and facilities of the YMCA in 'passable' condition to accommodate a rapidly expanding program."

The drive fell less than $11 000. Chairman of the rehabilitation fund committee was Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church.

Projects under the rehabilitation program included painting the building throughout, installing a new gas furnace, which replaced the many small gas heaters that created a fire hazard, and replacing wiring throughout the building.

A 12-point rifle range was installed and a new wall was built in the boxing room. Fluorescent lighting replaced old lighting in the work shop. Additional water heaters were installed to make more warm water available for showers.

Repairs were made on the roof and a coat of cement stucco was applied to the back wall. Plastering also was repaired throughout the building. Considerable carpenter work was done building new doorways and enlarging rooms.

Five hundred dollars of the fund went towards improvements at Camp Nelson Dodd, the YMCA area camp for Ohio and West Virginia.

Action Lags On Building

What's going to be done about the fire-damaged Weldon building at Fourth and Main streets was still undetermined last night.

William M. Weldon jr., owner of the building, said several possibilities were being discussed. He declined to say what they were for the present, but added that an attempt was being made to work something out. He said he did not know when he would have something to say about the future of the building.

The building has been inspected by representatives of both the state fire marshal's office and the state department of industrial relations. The fire, early on the morning of July 25 caused an estimated $100,000 damages.

Unloaded Pistol Causes Inquiry

A 19-year-old north-side youth was held in city jail for investigation after he was apprehended by Capt. C. W. Kyler yesterday afternoon in the act of carrying a concealed weapon.

The youth was stopped at the northwest corner of North Main and Sixth streets, after Kyler noticed "something" sticking in his belt, underneath the youth's T shirt. It turned out to be a Spanish-make revolver, unloaded.

Climaxing the conclusion of activities for the Children's Theater this year, a circus parade and party was held at South park pavilion, Friday morning.

Approximately sixty-five 'performers' took part, charging a penny admission to their sideshows. The money collected will be sent to Europe to benefit war orphans.

After the parade the costumes and props were shed and all present tore into the pink lemonade and ice cream, served in the pavilion.

SS Troops Face Death

LILLE, France — (AP) — Eight members of Hitler's SS (Elite Corps) were sentenced to death Saturday for the massacre of 77 French civilians in the village of Ascq on April 1, 1944. A ninth was sentenced to 15 years in prison.

Eight others who were never captured were sentenced to death in Absentia.

Their case grew out of executions of the 77 French people after a German military train carrying part of the 12th S.S. division was derailed near Ascq.

Witnesses testified the Germans swarmed from the train, broke into houses, shot the village priest and several other men on the spot and rounded up the rest in freight cars. The latter were shot as they were kicked off the train by soldiers.

Relatives of the victims and six men survivors of the massacre were among the prosecution witnesses. The defense pleaded only three defendants had been positively identified.

The trial caused considerable feeling in Lille. Crowds daily taunted the defendants as they filed in and out of the courtroom and shouted demands for the death penalty.

The chief defendant was Walter Hauck, former S.S. lieutenant.

Langkhayi can't be captured and a contest is held to determine who is the best man to go out and get him. Mathis, a handsome officer wins. Usa now falls in love with Mathis.

Mathis however, loves Tulya. Tulya is the only daughter of King Subbhayan. She, in turn, is engaged to Hemabhark, a prince living in another city. Langkhayi steals Usa from the King and hides her in a secret den. Hiding in the same den are Mathis and the lovely Tulya.

Langkhayi cuts off Mathis' head and carries it to the King. Meanwhile, Tulya married Hemabhark, the man she was supposed to anyway. Langkhayi is arrested and beheaded. Usa now becomes insane and as the sun sets on the tragic drama, Usa is nervously foundling Mathis' head.

Fair Trade Wine Prices Loom After Ohio Cigaret Action

Court Gives State Right To Fix Sale

Grants Authority To Set Minimum

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio is keeping a solid floor under cigaret prices and soon may put one under bottled wine.

The legislature changed the fair trade law to meet a state Supreme Court objection, but the action doesn't mean cheaper smokes. The Board of Liquor Control got authority to fix minimum wine prices but hasn't acted yet.

The change in the cigaret law took effect July 28. Word got out that it boosted cigaret prices. The state cigaret excise tax division quickly scotched that rumor.

Division spokesmen assured smokers the minimum of 18 cents a package for popular brand cigarets remains. So does the carton price of $1.73 unless a retailer is in direct competition with chain stores. The bottom price then can be $1.70 a carton.

The division says an independent dealer is in direct competition if he operates within a few blocks of chain stores selling at a lower price. The division determines how far that is and enforces the law, a spokesman said.

Change in the law affects only dealers. Retailers who call for their cigarets and pay cash can buy them from wholesalers for $1.62 a carton. Those who deal on credit and accept delivery from wholesalers must pay at least $1.63 a carton. The state Supreme Court held cash and carry retailers were entitled to a lower rate and the legislative action followed.

The fair price law resulted from the "loss leader bugaboo," one official explained. Chain stores often priced cigarets below cost to get customers into their stores. Price wars followed and independent merchants complained it was unfair. That resulted in a 1947 law setting minimum fair trade price floors.

Retailers under the law are allowed a six per cent profit minimum. They can charge more but competition discourages that.

Fair trade price laws also operate in the grocery and drug business. They went on the books in 1936 to halt price cutting wars between stores. Customers delight in cut throat prices but small business suffers from them.

Fair price laws actually are intended to protect brand name products and do not keep prices high like farm supports, merchants claim.

In the drug trade, manufacturers can contract with retailers to sell brand name products at a minimum price. These schedules then become floor prices under the fair trade act. The U. S. Supreme Court has upheld the practice.

Fewer items in the grocery business come under fair trade laws than in the drug trade. That's because grocery prices change so often, says Harry Nation of the Retail Merchants association. He also is a commitee member. The committee's grocery section sends fair trade price changes to about 16,000 Ohio dealers.

"The price trend now is down," Nation observed.

Authority for fair trade wine prices stemmed from a different cause. The legislature acted to protect the public from inferior products. It gave the liquor board power to regulate the wine trade and fix prices. Members now are studying the field. The new law goes on the books Sept. 20. The board probably will decide then what regulations to impose.

The state recently tightened existing regulations over wine dealers. It banned sale of half-pint flasks.

Ohio holds a monopoly over sale of intoxicants, a lush business that netted more than $50,000,000 last year.

Despite the popularity of state business controls in some quarters, the legislature refused to enact a fair trade law for the petroleum industry. Some interests complained it was unfair for certain filling stations to give dishes and other premiums to customers. But the lawmakers couldn't see it that way and refused to approve the proposal.

City Ready To Greet Ministers

STRASBOURG, France — (UP) — The historic city of Strasbourg put out the flags today to welcome the foreign ministers of 10 western European nations who meet in the city hall Monday to inaugurate the Council of Europe.

It will comprise the first European parliament and the first European cabinet or council of ministers. The council's constitution was being completed in Paris today by deputies of the 10 foreign ministers meeting at the French foreign office.

The ancient Egyptians painted the figure of an enemy on the leather soles of their sandals, so they could insult him daily by treading him under foot.

Information Girl Effective

CHICAGO — (AP) — Olga Nikolich is the information girl at Wesley Memorial hospital—and, as you shall see, she's pretty good at that sort of thing. A woman telephoned as follows:

"I'm in the Pittsfield building. I have an appointment with a doctor here in 15 minutes but I can't remember his name. Can you help me?"

Miss Nikolich asked the woman what she was being treated for. Then she came up quickly with the names of three specialists in the Pittsfield building who would handle an ailment of that type. One of them was the doctor the caller was seeking. The patient was on time for her appointment.

Bullet Kills Peacemaker

CHICOPEE, Mass. — (AP) — A schoolboy baseball umpire was shot to death Saturday, his son Everett, 22, critically wounded by the same bullet, and another son James, 24, was held without bail on a charge of murder.

Dead was John R. "Ray" Lynch sr., 49, who police said tried to play peacemaker in a quarrel between the boys.

James, a navy war veteran, was held for hearing Aug. 17 after District Judge Norman Snow ordered a plea of innocent entered for him.

Police Capt. Frank A. Kaveny said the two boys had been quarreling but "nobody knows over what."

WATER MAIN BREAKS

NEW YORK — (AP) — A break in a 36-inch water main in downtown Manhattan early Saturday flooded streets and buildings and disrupted subway service on the east side Lexington avenue line.

Hopped-Up Frogs Blitz Dixie Town

MOBILE, Ala. — (AP) — Thousands of dime-sized brown frogs, apparently all hopped up over something, blitzed two streets here Saturday.

The frogs jumped off on the invasion before dawn and by daybreak had just about covered the yards.

J. M. Ramsey said he noticed all the frogs seemed westward bound from a nearby water-hole and figured "they're just migrating."

Paul English said his duck flock found the frogs at dawn and by 8 a. m. had eaten so many they couldn't stand.

"They just sat on the ground," said English, "and kept eating every frog that hopped close enough."

Where the frogs came from or why was a mystery.

The residents mostly said they didn't care anyway; they just wanted the frogs to croak.

Churches Cooperate On Joint Problems

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — One day last spring, the regents of the University of California were faced with an unusual delegation.

It consisted of the chancellor of the Catholic diocese, Los Angeles' leading rabbi the Episcopal bishop, the secretary of the Presbyterian synod and a leading minister of the Christian church.

The churchmen had one mission: to save the university religious conference in which all are associated. The regents were thinking of taking over the land the conference occupied next to the UCLA campus.

One of the clergy, a wry Scotsman, suggested they dealt with the same people as the regents. "But," he added, "I believe you get more out of them as taxpayers than we do from them as churchgoers."

The regents were frankly amazed at this display of religious solidarity. So are many people who learn about the conference, which comprises Baptist, Congregational, Latter Day Saints, Lutheran Methodist, Quaker and Unitarian faiths, as well as those already mentioned.

The conference idea began in the mind of Dr. O. D. Foster, a Protestant chaplain in the first world war. He felt enriched by meeting Jewish and Catholic chaplains and regretted that churchmen had little chance to associate and work together.

Dr. Foster was in Los Angeles when UCLA was moving to its new Westwood campus in 1928. The religions sought locations nearby for their student groups but found prices of lots too high. Dr. Foster interested church leaders in joining in a single building to bring religion close to students of the state university.

The university religious conference was formed. Thomas S. Evans, who had done inter-faith work among Protestants at the University of Pennsylvania, came west to set the machinery in motion.

From the outset, the religions got along amazingly well.

There were few arguments because no sect sought to convince another on points of religion; the conference idea is not a search for a common faith. Nor is the conference democratic. Each sect has a veto on any action, so it will not be forced to sponsor something it disapproves of.

The prime idea was to provide religious outlets for college students. But the churchmen soon found they had other common problems.

There was intolerance, an enemy to any church. The conference sent out trialogues - three students of Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faith - to explain their religions and answer questions before civic gatherings.

It now sponsors a panel of Americans - girl teams composed of the three big faiths plus a Negro, Mexican-, Chinese-, or Japanese-American. They have been asked and are prepared to answer such questions as:

Is it true that married Catholics have to have a child a year? Why don't Jews eat ham? Why are all Negroes Republicans? Why is it all Mexican-Americans carry knives? Why should our men fight the Japanese and then come home and find them in the community?

The churches also faced the problem of rising juvenile delinquency. So the conference founded University camp, which provides mountain vacations for underprivileged children. The camp, as well as year-round community youth work, is also designed to develop social responsibility of the student counsellors.

The conference, operated by Miss Adaline Guenther since Evans' death in 1945, is now a 100,000 corporation. It also has a branch at Los Angeles city college.

Among its other functions are a cooperative dormitory for women students, aid to service chaplains and foreign students, exhibits of racial and religious culture.

The conference has student boards with the purpose of instilling religious spirit in the leaders of tomorrow. About half of the student leaders on the board don't attend church.

"For them, the conference lifts religion into a creative atmosphere," says Miss Guenther.

Perhaps the conference's best tribute was paid in this year's report by the clergy division. The churchmen declared they enjoyed the "personal fellowship" of their gatherings and "by such personal confidence and appreciation form a strong bulwark against acrimonious division among the faiths of our community."

Sand Pays Town's Total Tax Bill

SEDGEFORD, England — (AP) — This Norfolk village runs on sand. The 700 or so villagers haven't paid a penny in local taxes in 15 years. The tax rate is fixed at eightpence on a pound's worth of real estate — roughly dollars 3.50 a hundred. But it hasn't been collected.

Sedgeford has paid all its expenses and made enough extra to refurbish the war memorial and start a new athletic field by selling natural resources — sand from a village-owned sandpit.

Body Found

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Martin H. Ebel of Lakewood reported to police yesterday that his wife Estella, 31, had been missing from their home since 11 a. m. Thursday. Last night her battered body was found on the rocks at the bottom of a 60-foot cliff facing Lake Erie.

Mansfield Man Makes Dollars Do Double Duty

Formulas are always interesting, whether they apply to chemistry, algebra, milk for the baby—or life insurance. So it seemed to me you probably would be interested in the solution of a recent life insurance problem in which I used the equation 1 plus ½ plus ¼ equals S plus R.

My client wanted his present income paid to his family for at least a year, in case of death.

In addition, he wanted to guarantee half of that income to his wife during the youngster's "teen-age" years; then one fourth the income to his wife for the rest of her life.

But, he added, "I'm not planning on dying. I expect to live. So I want you to figure how much income all this life insurance will bring me when I reach age 60 or 65."

The "S" in this man's problem stood for Security for his family, while the "R" indicated a need for Retirement Income in later years. And he was very happy to find he could get both — well within his means — through a Phoenix Mutual Plan described in our Retirement Income Catalog.

Perhaps you, too, would like a copy of this unique catalog, containing special plans to meet special situations. I'll be glad to send you one—without cost or obligation. Just drop me a note or a post card today.
